'Cleanup Job' Attended To By President

Delaying Decision On When Or Where He'll Convalesce

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is "doing quite a bit of clean-up work" at the White House — and delaying a decision on when or where to take a convalescent rest.

The "clean-up work" description of presidential activity was offered Friday by White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers. He said Johnson has been conferring, in person or by telephone, with Budget Director Charles Schultze and Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

In addition, Moyers said, Johnson had been signing papers and bills that piled up during his 13-day stay at Bethesda Naval Hospital for removal of his gall bladder and a kidney stone.

There has been speculation Johnson will head soon for his Texas ranch for rest and recuperation. Moyers said, however, there are no definite plans of that kind.

Johnson rested Friday — at least in the morning He didn't get out of bed until after noon, though he was conducting official business in his bedroom.

But in midafternoon, he showed much of his old form when he ventured into the East Room and signed the Highways Beautification Act before 200 congressmen and guests.

The new law controls billboards advertising and junkyards along the nation's highways.

"As long as I am president," he said, "what has been divinely given by nature will not be recklessly taken away by man."

Referring to Mrs. Johnson's advocacy of the law, he said there is "a joy within me and my family" and he predicted the new law "will bring the wonders of nature back to our lives."

Ruddy but thin of face, Johnson stood at length to deliver his speech and then to hand out pens to almost everyone in the room.

Apart from the apparent loss of weight, the only noticeable change from pre-surgery appearances was that Johnson spoke in a somewhat softer, perhaps weaker, voice.

Asked by newsmen how his first full day back at the White House had gone, Johnson said: "Just couldn't be better."

The President had no announced appointments today.

Bar Hours Enforced By Hancock Deputies

Hancock County sheriff's deputies reportedly made special efforts to enforce a midnight closing hour for several night clubs in the area Friday night.

The sheriff's office in New Cumberland, however, announced today that there were no arrests.

9½-Month Session Ends

Success Marks 89th Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress adjourned for the year today with a landmark record of civil rights, education, health care and other "Great Society" legislation.

The 9½-month session came to a dramatic end shortly before 1 a.m. when the Senate, its ranks thinned by early departures, managed a quorum and passed the sugar quota bill.

This last obstacle to adjournment was approved 41 to 10 after anxious leaders managed to round up 51 senators, a bare majority. A half-hour earlier the Senate was two members short of a quorum when the sugar bill was first put to a vote.

The House had passed the bill 174 to 88, and was waiting on the Senate.

The two branches adjourned sine die within one minute of each other — the Senate at 12:51 a.m. and the House at 12:52 a.m.

Congress returns Jan. 10.

President Johnson, in a letter to Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, acclaimed the 1965 session as "the greatest session of Congress in the history of our nation." Mansfield said that 85 per cent of the promises in last year's Democratic platform had been enacted into law.

Driving toward adjournment Friday both houses agreed to a 3.6 per cent pay increase for 1.8 million federal employes.

The sugar bill, a compromise worked out by a Senate-House conference committee, generally split differences between the two branches on allotments to foreign countries. It also adds 580,000 tons to the marketing quota of domestic sugar producers effective this year, to permit them to dispose of huge surpluses.

Earlier in the House, several Republicans and Democrats complained about the $641-million federal pay bill, scaled down from the House-passed 4 per cent increase in order to avert a presidential veto.

But the measure was passed by voice vote and sent on to Johnson to sign into law. It is retroactive to Oct. 1.

The bill was approved in midafternoon by the Senate after only 45 minutes of debate. The vote was 67 to 0.

Rolled Out Tide Of Legislation

'Fabulous 89th Congress' Posted Historic Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — The "fabulous 89th Congress," as President Johnson describes it, has written an historic record in its first session.

With top-heavy Democratic majorities, it rolled out a tide of major legislation that often drew comparisons with the New Deal days of the 1930s.

It set up a permanent health care program for the elderly, made it easier for Negroes in the South to register to vote, wiped out taxes on dozens of items bought by nearly all Americans, provided more than $1 billion to improve education for disadvantaged children.

It broke down bars to immigration, set up regional centers to bring to all parts of the country the newest techniques for fighting major diseases and provided federal grants for writers, painters, composers and other artists.

Its biggest claim to fame appeared to rest on:

1. The $6.5-billion Social Security bill, passed in July, that sets up a broad program of health care for Americans over 65. It also raised all regular Social Security benefits.

2. The $1.3-billion education bill, enacted in April, containing the broadest aid program for the nation's grade and high schools ever to clear Congress. Children from poor families are to benefit most.

3. The voting rights bill, passed in August, suspending literacy tests and permitting federal registrars in much of the South. Registrars already are at work registering Negroes in 20 Deep South counties.

Most of the major legislation was passed before Labor Day, the target adjournment date set early in the year by Senate and House leaders.

But the session dragged on for eight weeks beyond that time, developing a sense of anticlimax and frustrating many members. Some of the President's bills had tougher going in

Weekend's Weather? Just Plain Miserable

Second Suit Filed In Ohio Reapportion

Seeks To Prevent Board In Putting Plan Into Effect

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A suit to restrain the State Apportionment Board from putting its legislative redistricting plan into effect was filed with the U. S. District court here Friday.

Seeking the action was James D. Nolan of Cleveland, who also filed the suit which led to a ruling invalidating a section of Ohio's constitution guaranteeing each county at least one representative.

The latest suit asks a federal court ruling similar to a state court decision this week preventing the board from proceeding with its reapportionment plan.

State Sen. Frank W. King of Toledo, the Democratic leader, obtained the injunction from the 10th Ditrict Court of Appeals. King's suit challenged the board's claim of constitutional authority to reapportion the state.

Nolan's suit contends that previous court orders and statements by the defendants show that the board has no authority to proceed with legislative reapportionment.

In other developments disclosed Friday, the board had anticipated that a federal court would rule then - existing Senate apportionment illegal, minutes of official meetings showed.

And minutes of two meetings of the board composed of the governor, secretary of state and state auditor relate that its members sought to create districts for both House and Sen-

Johnson Sets Talks On Morrissey Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House says President Johnson will confer with Massachusetts' two senators before deciding whether to resubmit his nomination of Francis X. Morrissey to be a federal judge.

The controversial nomination was killed for the 1965 congressional session Thursday when Morrissey's chief sponsor, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., asked the Senate to send it back to the Judiciary Committee.

White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers was asked Friday if Johnson will resubmit the nomination when Congress reconvenes in January.

He said no decision on Morrissey will be made until the President confers with Kennedy and with Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass.

Two Others In Klan To Face Trial

Third Acquitted In Civil Rights Killing Of Detroit Woman

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Alabama's Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers says two other Ku Klux Klansmen will be tried on murder charges despite the acquittal of a third in the civil rights killing of a white Detroit housewife.

Flowers, the state's chief legal officer, commented after Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., 21, was freed by a Circuit Court jury late Friday. The five-day trial was Wilkins' second for the murder of Viola Gregg Liuzzo, 39. The first ended in a mistrial with a deadlocked jury.

A jury of 12 white men, which included four men challenged by Flowers for prejudice, reported the acquittal verdict after deliberating about an hour and 45 minutes. The defendant, a crew-cut, baby-faced Fairfield, Ala., mechanic, smiled broadly.

The verdict was greeted with applause by a crowded courtroom in the century-old Lowndes County courthouse, built with slave labor.

The spectators included the other two Klansmen who Flowers said will be tried, Eugene Thomas, 42, and William Orville Eaton, 41, both of Bessemer, and Wilkins' middle-aged parents. Wilkins, Thomas and Eaton were indicted for murder in the shooting of Mrs. Liuzzo, who was shuttling civil rights marchers back to Selma the

Space Figure Held In Death Of Father, 67

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — A one-time space scientist, sought in the fatal shooting of his father in New York City, was captured Friday night at his residence in West Hartford.

Ernst Wolfgang Treunfels, 41, routed by police from his attic apartment, was taken to the state jail here to await arrival of New York authorities.

Treunfels' father, Rudolph, 67, a grocery store association executive, was shot to death Friday in the sixth-floor Brooklyn apartment he had shared with his wife since they fled Nazi Germany in 1939.

Authorities said the son, a graduate of Princeton University with an IQ of a genius in tests given him in New York and elsewhere, was seen fleeing the apartment building with a gun in his hand. The father was shot five times in the head and face.

Police said the son, currently unemployed, left California three years ago where he was attached as a physicist to a government missile base.

A warrant was issued naming the son as a fugitive from justice and charging him with possession of a dangerous weapon.

Friday night West Hartford Police Sgt. Raymond Ahlstrin and detective John Wampler went to Treunfels' address, where he occupied attic quarters in a three-story home converted into apartments.

While Wampler waited outside, Ahlstrin went upstairs, and, they said, Treunfels fled down the back stairs and outside, where he was seized by the detective.

The officers said Treunfels had a loaded a cocked 38-caliber automatic pistol.

Launching Slated Monday

Weather Poses Lone Block For Gemini 6 Flight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Passing every test with ease, the Gemini 6 pilots racked up still more flight rehearsals today for Monday's date with a target in space. Only the weather posed a question mark.

Weathermen now say they fear "sluggish cloud formations" over the launch area Monday, but so far they are not expected to be serious enough to bar the launchings of the Gemini 6 and the target Agena.

Command pilot Walter M. Schirra Jr. and pilot Thomas P. Stafford squeezed in a little gym time today in a schedule devoted mostly to more simulated flights, rehearsing the rendezvous and docking with their space target.

They have already logged more than 125 hours in the various simulators in the last six months — well over the 100 hours of practice flight most Gemini crews have taken into space.

But in their brief one- or two-day flight, Schirra and Stafford have by far the most difficult flying job to date.

They will hunt down the target Agena rocket, match its orbit and dock with it — the first time this has been done. It is a precise and taxing chore.

Space agency spokesmen said the crew already has made more than 50 rendezvous runs in the Gemini simulator, including some in which they pretend they had lost some of their flight capability.

Already 10,000 men, 18 ships and 40 aircraft are deployed to support the launch operation on Monday.

Fuel was loaded Friday into the Atlas rocket that will launch the Agena target rocket into space at 10 a.m. (EST) Monday. The Gemini 6 will follow into space aboard a Titan 2 rocket at 11:41 a.m.

Schirra, a Navy captain, and Stafford, an Air Force major, skipped a mission review meeting Friday to spend more time in the simulator.

While no one has said officially, it looks like the flight will last two days. It is still billed as a one- or-two-day shot depending on how fast the rendezvous and docking are completed.

But now, sources say, the astronauts will stay the second day to photograph the comet Ikeya-Seki as it begins its long journey away from the sun and off on a long orbit to a distant point in the universe.

Reds Hammer Camp

U.S. Air Raids Inflict Huge Toll

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—in the face of heavy air strikes, Viet Cong forces kept hammering at the Plei Me special forces camp today and attacked a large government unit in another area about 20 miles to the northeast.

U.S. military spokesmen said air observers reported a heavy toll of Viet Cong was taken as the war continued at an increased tempo.

A briefing officer said sporadic fighting was reported late in the day at Plei Me, 210 miles northeast of Saigon, where the Viet Cong attacked in force four days ago.

The Viet Cong were reported using mortars, recoilless rifles and 50-caliber machineguns as they hammered at the reinforced camp defenders.

The officer said no U.S. combat units had been committed, although advisers in the camp have suffered what were described as light casualties.

The spokesman said 117 air strikes had been flown in support of the camp in the past 24 hours and about 300 sorties had been flown since the fighting erupted.

He said Viet Cong casualties had not been changed officially from the 100 reported killed earlier, but that reports from the scene said casualties from air assaults ranged from moderate to heavy. Two battalions of Resistance To Anti-Draft Movement Rising In U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Mounting resistance to the anti-draft movement is spreading across the United States, seemingly growing cheek by jowl with the American build-up in Viet Nam.

U.S. Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan of Chicago says he has recommended that the Justice Department spearhead an investigation of antidraft activities.

Two men charged with burning their draft cards under a new federal law are being held for legal action. In Baltimore, a federal judge took note of the draft dissenters and sentenced a professed conscientious objector to three years in prison.

In California, a sophomore at San Jose State College was dissuaded from burning his draft card by a dramatic plea from a red-haired coed who stepped from a crowd that was urging him on.

A federal court in Concord, N.H., is expected to act early next week on a request to send David J. Miller to New York to face a charge of destroying his draft card.

Miller, 22, of Syracuse, N.Y., the first person charged under the new law, publicly burned what he said was his draft card at a rally in New York protest-

Many Other Revelations Anticipated

Probe Will Focus Again Next Week On Carolina Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators hope two recanting Klansmen will spark a chain reaction, inspiring more Klansmen to doff their sheets and secrecy.

After plodding for three days through the murk of financial records and Fifth Amendment pleadings, the hearings by the House Committee on Un-American Activities struck some fire Friday.

In rapid succession on the witness stand:

1. Klansman Joseph G. DuBois of Goldsboro, N.C., resigned from the Klan on the spot, saying he put God and country over the KKK oath, and turned over his records.

2. A former Klan chaplain, Roy Woodle, dramatically pointed out a Klan "nighthawk" among the spectators and said the man had made a thinly disguised threat on his life.

Afterward, committee Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., told newsmen to expect "many other revelations" and added: "It is my hope and belief that this might result in a chain reaction."

Although Congress has adjourned, the committee will continue its probe, focusing again next week on the North Carolina Realm of the United Klans of America.

It was the voluble Woodle who stole the show with his hominy and grits phrasing, his staccato speech, waving arms and

More Stores Charged With Sunday Sales

Two more complaints of Sunday sales were filed Friday in County Judge James MacDonald's Court at Lisbon through Prosecutor Warren Bettis' office.

The charges, which will be transferred to County Judge Herbert Arfman's Court at East Palestine, were against Lee's Market at Glenmoor and Theron's Market near Columbiana.

Ernest Fannin, manager of Hill's Department Store at Calcutta, Thursday filed complaints of Sunday sales against Saltsman's Pharmacy at Calcutta and Gallo's Grocery of St. Clair Ave.

Fannin and clerks at the Hills store have been cited for Sunday sales law violations and are due hearings Thursday in the East Palestine court.

They have already logged more than 125 hours in the various simulators in the last six months — well over the 100 hours of practice flight most Gemini crews have taken into space.

But in their brief one- or two-day flight, Schirra and Stafford have by far the most difficult flying job to date.

They will hunt down the target Agena rocket, match its orbit and dock with it — the first time this has been done. It is a precise and taxing chore.

Space agency spokesmen said the crew already has made more than 50 rendezvous runs in the Gemini simulator, including some in which they pretend they had lost some of their flight capability.

Already 10,000 men, 18 ships and 40 aircraft are deployed to support the launch operation on Monday.

Fuel was loaded Friday into the Atlas rocket that will launch the Agena target rocket into space at 10 a.m. (EST) Monday. The Gemini 6 will follow into space aboard a Titan 2 rocket at 11:41 a.m.

Schirra, a Navy captain, and Stafford, an Air Force major, skipped a mission review meeting Friday to spend more time in the simulator.

While no one has said officially, it looks like the flight will last two days. It is still billed as a one- or-two-day shot depending on how fast the rendezvous and docking are completed.

But now, sources say, the astronauts will stay the second day to photograph the comet Ikeya-Seki as it begins its long journey away from the sun and off on a long orbit to a distant point in the universe.

U.S. Air Raids Inflict Huge Toll

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—in the face of heavy air strikes, Viet Cong forces kept hammering at the Plei Me special forces camp today and attacked a large government unit in another area about 20 miles to the northeast.

U.S. military spokesmen said air observers reported a heavy toll of Viet Cong was taken as the war continued at an increased tempo.

A briefing officer said sporadic fighting was reported late in the day at Plei Me, 210 miles northeast of Saigon, where the Viet Cong attacked in force four days ago.

The Viet Cong were reported using mortars, recoilless rifles and 50-caliber machineguns as they hammered at the reinforced camp defenders.

The officer said no U.S. combat units had been committed, although advisers in the camp have suffered what were described as light casualties.

The spokesman said 117 air strikes had been flown in support of the camp in the past 24 hours and about 300 sorties had been flown since the fighting erupted.

He said Viet Cong casualties had not been changed officially from the 100 reported killed earlier, but that reports from the scene said casualties from air assaults ranged from moderate to heavy. Two battalions of Resistance To Anti-Draft Movement Rising In U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Mounting resistance to the anti-draft movement is spreading across the United States, seemingly growing cheek by jowl with the American build-up in Viet Nam.

U.S. Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan of Chicago says he has recommended that the Justice Department spearhead an investigation of antidraft activities.

Two men charged with burning their draft cards under a new federal law are being held for legal action. In Baltimore, a federal judge took note of the draft dissenters and sentenced a professed conscientious objector to three years in prison.

In California, a sophomore at San Jose State College was dissuaded from burning his draft card by a dramatic plea from a red-haired coed who stepped from a crowd that was urging him on.

A federal court in Concord, N.H., is expected to act early next week on a request to send David J. Miller to New York to face a charge of destroying his draft card.

Miller, 22, of Syracuse, N.Y., the first person charged under the new law, publicly burned what he said was his draft card at a rally in New York protest-

Probe Will Focus Again Next Week On Carolina Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators hope two recanting Klansmen will spark a chain reaction, inspiring more Klansmen to doff their sheets and secrecy.

After plodding for three days through the murk of financial records and Fifth Amendment pleadings, the hearings by the House Committee on Un-American Activities struck some fire Friday.

In rapid succession on the witness stand:

1. Klansman Joseph G. DuBois of Goldsboro, N.C., resigned from the Klan on the spot, saying he put God and country over the KKK oath, and turned over his records.

2. A former Klan chaplain, Roy Woodle, dramatically pointed out a Klan "nighthawk" among the spectators and said the man had made a thinly disguised threat on his life.

Afterward, committee Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., told newsmen to expect "many other revelations" and added: "It is my hope and belief that this might result in a chain reaction."

Although Congress has adjourned, the committee will continue its probe, focusing again next week on the North Carolina Realm of the United Klans of America.

It was the voluble Woodle who stole the show with his hominy and grits phrasing, his staccato speech, waving arms and

Ernest Fannin, manager of Hill's Department Store at Calcutta, Thursday filed complaints of Sunday sales against Saltsman's Pharmacy at Calcutta and Gallo's Grocery of St. Clair Ave.

Fannin and clerks at the Hills store have been cited for Sunday sales law violations and are due hearings Thursday in the East Palestine court.

Man Receives Probation For 7 Burglaries

A Steubenville man has been placed on five years probation in the burglarizing of seven Columbiana County service stations, four here and three in Wellsville.

The action was taken Friday in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard in the case of George Brown, 21.

Brown and two companions were charged with burglaries on Feb. 17 at Moore's Sohio, Metts' Sohio, the Hays Oil Co. and Cooper's Amoco stations, all in East Liverpool, and at William Gitscher's Sunoco, Cunningham's Sohio and the Sohio station in Wellsville.

Chalmer Grant, 18, also of Steubenville, was placed on five years probation earlier this week by Judge Buzzard.

The third man in the case, Howard Grant, 30, also of Steubenville, is awaiting trial on a probation request on a plea of guilty.

night of March 25 following the march on Montgomery.

Last May jurymen in the first trial said they were split 10-2 for conviction on a manslaughter charge.

Arthur J. Hanes, a former Birmingham mayor who defended Wilkins, commented after the verdict, "Gentlemen, we've had a very fair judge and we've had a good jury. The evidence demanded this verdict."

Hanes said he thought the same verdict would have been rendered "in New York, California or Kansas City."

The Wilkins trial jurors left the courthouse almost immediately after the verdict under the guard of state troopers.

The stocky Wilkins was hustled through waiting newsmen outside the white, two-story courthouse minutes after the jury's decisions was announced.

In Detroit, Anthony Liuzzo, Mrs. Liuzzo's husband, expressed resentment at the verdict:

"That state of Alabama. Oh well. They're just a little state all to themselves," he said. "I don't think they should be part of the United States."

Wilson Guard Boosted

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's two-man bodyguard will be increased to at least six gun-carrying detectives for his visit to Rhodesia. He leaves Sunday.

Wilson is expected to stay in Rhodesia for a week to discuss independence for the self-governing British colony with Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith.

Viet Cong — possibly 1,000 to 1,200 men—are believed in the area.

Government casualties were termed light.

Associated Press photographer Eddie Adams reported from Plei Me that the camp itself was a blasted, sundered wreckage—as if it had been hit by an earthquake.

The other major action reported today took place in Phu Yen Province near the coast of the South China Sea and about 230 miles northeast of Saigon.

What was described as a multi-battalion government force has been conducting an operation there since Oct. 12 to protect the area's rich rice harvest from the Viet Cong.

A Viet Cong force of unknown size hit the South Vietnamese with a heavy attack and bitter fighting raged until air strikes ripped into the Communist positions.

Government casualties were described as light.

U.S. B52 jet bomber staged what some observers believed was their closest raid to Saigon early today. The targets seemed only 7 to 10 miles south of the capital, the observers said. There was no immediate report by U.S. military spokesmen.

The Guam-based bombers several times have pounded suspected Viet Cong targets about 20 miles from Saigon, the South Vietnamese capital.

Bombings in North Viet Nam were aimed at bridges, roads, railway lines and military areas. Light antiaircraft fire was encountered but all planes were said to have returned safely.

North Viet Nam claimed today its troops knocked down seven American planes over its territory Friday.

In other developments, it was disclosed that additional artillery strength is being introduced into South Viet Nam to give American troops more firepower punch and range.

Included will be two battalions of 8-inch howitzers and two battalions of 175-millimeter guns.

Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky announced plans to move U.S. and Vietnamese billets from Saigon to relieve overtaxed housing and other facilities in the capital.

Pen Term Set In Burglaries

LISBON — An Akron man was sentenced Thursday to two consecutive terms of one to 15 years in the Ohio State Penitentiary on two indictments of burglary.

The defendant, Harry Lee Cooper 43, had requested probation, but, the court said, because of previous felonies it was denied.

Cooper and two companions pleaded guilty to two burglaries — one at the Golden Dawn Store in East Liverpool and the other at Chuck's Pure Oil Station in Bayard.

One of the trio, George Keys, 41, also of Akron, was placed on probation for five years by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard.

The third man, Henry A. Oliver, 27, also of Akron, had requested probation. His case will be heard when he recovers from an illness.

Cincinnati Man, 31, Faces Murder Trial

CINCINNATI (AP) — William Taylor, 31, faces trial for first degree murder as the result of a shooting.

charges of high living among Klan leaders.

Woodle, 41, a sometime bricklayer as well as preacher around Lexington, N.C., drew national attention a few weeks ago when he was pictured first speaking at Klan rallies and then, disillusioned, denouncing the Klan.

One night after the program, Woodle said, a cross was burned in his yard.

Woodle said the "grief and pain" of his nine or 10 months among the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan — and an apparently quick fall from favor — culminated in a telephone call.

Asked if the caller threatened him with "bodily harm," Woodle shifted in his chair and said, "I don't know if it is bodily harm, but he said he had the authority to do away with me."

After nervous laughter in the hearing room died down, Willis asked if the Klansman who did the threatening was in the room.

Turning, Woodle singled out a swarthy man smiling in the first row and declared: "He's the fella sitting there with the moustache."

He identified him as Boyd Hamby.

The committee said Hamby was grand nighthawk of the North Carolina Realm with authority over cross burnings and other things.

Called to the stand, Hamby refused to say whether he ever saw the preacher before, made the phone call or burned a cross in Woodle's yard.

"When I go to the door in the morning," said Woodle, "I look in the bushes, and I expect to be ready to live this way the rest of my life. When you get a phone call that somebody's hired to do away with you — that's Castro policy, communism."

But, he added, "the Lord will take care of me. And if He can't, I'm ready to go to heaven anyway."

Q. — What is the most effective way of cleaning combs?

A.—If made of hard rubber or bone, let the combs stand for ten minutes in a basin of warm water continuing a couple of tablespoons of household ammonia. Scrub with a small brush. Alcohol and lysol solutions also are good cleaners and disinfectants for hard rubber or bone combs. Wash other plactic combs in warm (never hot) water, using a mild coap. No ammonia or other chemical, which might soften or disclolor the plastic!

Wallace Bid For Senate Is Rekindled

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Defeat of a constitutional amendment to let him seek reelection rekindled speculation today that Gov. George C. Wallace may run for the U.S. Senate next year.

It also started political tongues wagging again about the possibility that Wallace may put his wife, Lurleen, into the race for governor in 1966, since he cannot run.

Wallace wanted to succeed himself. He called a special session to consider a constitutional amendment to make it possible.

The Senate killed the amendment Friday. A short time later, the three-week-long special session came abruptly to a halt.

Despite the governor's repeated insistence that he had the 21 votes necessary to pass an amendment and submit it to the people, and his claim that only a filibustering minority bloc stood in the way, only 18 senators voted with the administration in the showdown.

Fourteen others, most of whom had kept the Senate deadlocked in prolonged debate, voted against the amendment. Three senators were absent.

Wallace gave no hint of his future political amibitions except to say that he would discuss the issue in a statewide television-radio hookup, "at the proper time."

Some figure Wallace may try to unseat Sen. John Sparkman D-Ala. who comes up for reelection next year.

The same section of the state constitution which prohibits the governor from succeeding himself also says that he cannot serve in the U.S. Senate for at least a year after his term as governor expires.

But, a number of authorities — incldiuing Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, one of the governor's most outspoken political foes — have expressed the belief that the restriction against the governor running for the Senate is invalid.

They argue that it has the effect of fixing qualifications for a federal office, and that a state law cannot do that.

ing U.S. involvement in Viet Nam.

Roger Lette, 19, of Fremont, Calif., said he had planned to burn his draft card at a San Jose rally called by the Students for a Democratic Society. The society, based in Chicago, has sponsored some of the antidraft activity.

Before a crowd at the rally he thumbed through papers from his pocket looking for his draft card. Men said to be FBI agents held a motion picture camera. Then, out of the crowd stepped Ann Morris, 23, a drama major at San Jose State.

"Think what you are doing," she said. "If you must do this, if you have reasons and are sincere-go ahead. But not here, do it in private."

She put her arm around him and Lette said, "I do not choose to do it. I did not come here to be an object of ridicule, but you have made me one."

Asked why she did it she replied: "I didn't know him. All of a sudden I just thought that this was all so terribly wrong. I thought 'Why doesn't somebody do something,' and nobody did. So I did."

Wilson Guard Boosted

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's two-man bodyguard will be increased to at least six gun-carrying detectives for his visit to Rhodesia. He leaves Sunday.

Wilson is expected to stay in Rhodesia for a week to discuss independence for the self-governing British colony with Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith.

Viet Nam

Viet Cong — possibly 1,000 to 1,200 men—are believed in the area.

Government casualties were termed light.

Associated Press photographer Eddie Adams reported from Plei Me that the camp itself was a blasted, sundered wreckage—as if it had been hit by an earthquake.

The other major action reported today took place in Phu Yen Province near the coast of the South China Sea and about 230 miles northeast of Saigon.

What was described as a multi-battalion government force has been conducting an operation there since Oct. 12 to protect the area's rich rice harvest from the Viet Cong.

A Viet Cong force of unknown size hit the South Vietnamese with a heavy attack and bitter fighting raged until air strikes ripped into the Communist positions.

Government casualties were described as light.

U.S. B52 jet bomber staged what some observers believed was their closest raid to Saigon early today. The targets seemed only 7 to 10 miles south of the capital, the observers said. There was no immediate report by U.S. military spokesmen.

The Guam-based bombers several times have pounded suspected Viet Cong targets about 20 miles from Saigon, the South Vietnamese capital.

Bombings in North Viet Nam were aimed at bridges, roads, railway lines and military areas. Light antiaircraft fire was encountered but all planes were said to have returned safely.

North Viet Nam claimed today its troops knocked down seven American planes over its territory Friday.

In other developments, it was disclosed that additional artillery strength is being introduced into South Viet Nam to give American troops more firepower punch and range.

Included will be two battalions of 8-inch howitzers and two battalions of 175-millimeter guns.

Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky announced plans to move U.S. and Vietnamese billets from Saigon to relieve overtaxed housing and other facilities in the capital.

50 Fight Mine Fire; 100 Safe, None Hurt

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP) — About 50 men continued to battle a fire today which broke out at the Christopher Coal Co.'s nearby Pursglove mine Friday afternoon.

Company officials said about 100 miners were evacuated safely after the blaze was discovered in a belt driven coal carrier. No one was injured.

Pen Term Set In Burglaries

LISBON — An Akron man was sentenced Thursday to two consecutive terms of one to 15 years in the Ohio State Penitentiary on two indictments of burglary.

The defendant, Harry Lee Cooper 43, had requested probation, but, the court said, because of previous felonies it was denied.

Cooper and two companions pleaded guilty to two burglaries — one at the Golden Dawn Store in East Liverpool and the other at Chuck's Pure Oil Station in Bayard.

One of the trio, George Keys, 41, also of Akron, was placed on probation for five years by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard.

The third man, Henry A. Oliver, 27, also of Akron, had requested probation. His case will be heard when he recovers from an illness.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The executive secretary of the Ohio Petroleum Marketers Association will head a newly formed council to encourage travel and tourism in Ohio.

Robert S. Hart Jr., Cincinnati, was elected vice president of the travel council while Paul Sherlock, Columbus, became secretary-treasurer

Cincinnati Man, 31, Faces Murder Trial

CINCINNATI (AP) — William Taylor, 31, faces trial for first degree murder as the result of a shooting.

Melvin Rueger, Hamilton County Prosecutor, said Taylor shot his mother-in-law, Mrs. Lucille Hust, 40, on Sept. 3 at her home. The argument reportedly was over a party she had arranged when her daughter Nancy married Taylor for the second time on the previous day. The grand jury indicted Taylor Friday.

2 Men Are Arrested In Illegal Liquor Case

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A 125-gallon whisky still in Twinsburg township was smashed and three barrels of mash were dumped Friday by federal and state agents and detectives from the sheriff's department.

Two men were arrested on charges of manufacturing and possessing untaxed liquor. They were identified as James Jackson, 72, of Twinsburg Township, and Odel Jolly, 53, Cleveland.

Klan

charges of high living among Klan leaders.

Woodle, 41, a sometime bricklayer as well as preacher around Lexington, N.C., drew national attention a few weeks ago when he was pictured first speaking at Klan rallies and then, disillusioned, denouncing the Klan.

One night after the program, Woodle said, a cross was burned in his yard.

Woodle said the "grief and pain" of his nine or 10 months among the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan — and an apparently quick fall from favor — culminated in a telephone call.

Asked if the caller threatened him with "bodily harm," Woodle shifted in his chair and said, "I don't know if it is bodily harm, but he said he had the authority to do away with me."

After nervous laughter in the hearing room died down, Willis asked if the Klansman who did the threatening was in the room.

Turning, Woodle singled out a swarthy man smiling in the first row and declared: "He's the fella sitting there with the moustache."

He identified him as Boyd Hamby.

The committee said Hamby was grand nighthawk of the North Carolina Realm with authority over cross burnings and other things.

Called to the stand, Hamby refused to say whether he ever saw the preacher before, made the phone call or burned a cross in Woodle's yard.

"When I go to the door in the morning," said Woodle, "I look in the bushes, and I expect to be ready to live this way the rest of my life. When you get a phone call that somebody's hired to do away with you — that's Castro policy, communism."

But, he added, "the Lord will take care of me. And if He can't, I'm ready to go to heaven anyway."

Miss Bryant won the Miss Kansas contest as Miss Kansas City, Kansas, and went on from there to the Atlantic City pageant.

Q. — What is the most effective way of cleaning combs?

A.—If made of hard rubber or bone, let the combs stand for ten minutes in a basin of warm water continuing a couple of tablespoons of household ammonia. Scrub with a small brush. Alcohol and lysol solutions also are good cleaners and disinfectants for hard rubber or bone combs. Wash other plactic combs in warm (never hot) water, using a mild coap. No ammonia or other chemical, which might soften or disclolor the plastic!

Wallace Bid For Senate Is Rekindled

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Defeat of a constitutional amendment to let him seek reelection rekindled speculation today that Gov. George C. Wallace may run for the U.S. Senate next year.

It also started political tongues wagging again about the possibility that Wallace may put his wife, Lurleen, into the race for governor in 1966, since he cannot run.

Wallace wanted to succeed himself. He called a special session to consider a constitutional amendment to make it possible.

The Senate killed the amendment Friday. A short time later, the three-week-long special session came abruptly to a halt.

Despite the governor's repeated insistence that he had the 21 votes necessary to pass an amendment and submit it to the people, and his claim that only a filibustering minority bloc stood in the way, only 18 senators voted with the administration in the showdown.

Fourteen others, most of whom had kept the Senate deadlocked in prolonged debate, voted against the amendment. Three senators were absent.

Wallace gave no hint of his future political amibitions except to say that he would discuss the issue in a statewide television-radio hookup, "at the proper time."

Some figure Wallace may try to unseat Sen. John Sparkman D-Ala. who comes up for reelection next year.

The same section of the state constitution which prohibits the governor from succeeding himself also says that he cannot serve in the U.S. Senate for at least a year after his term as governor expires.

But, a number of authorities — incldiung Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, one of the governor's most outspoken political foes — have expressed the belief that the restriction against the governor running for the Senate is invalid.

They argue that it has the effect of fixing qualifications for a federal office, and that a state law cannot do that.

Anti-Draft

ing U.S. involvement in Viet Nam.

Roger Lette, 19, of Fremont, Calif., said he had planned to burn his draft card at a San Jose rally called by the Students for a Democratic Society. The society, based in Chicago, has sponsored some of the antidraft activity.

Before a crowd at the rally he thumbed through papers from his pocket looking for his draft card. Men said to be FBI agents held a motion picture camera. Then, out of the crowd stepped Ann Morris, 23, a drama major at San Jose State.

"Think what you are doing," she said. "If you must do this, if you have reasons and are sincere-go ahead. But not here, do it in private."

She put her arm around him and Lette said, "I do not choose to do it. I did not come here to be an object of ridicule, but you have made me one."

Asked why she did it she replied: "I didn't know him. All of a sudden I just thought that this was all so terribly wrong. I thought 'Why doesn't somebody do something,' and nobody did. So I did."

Hancock One Of 11 Counties With School Enrollment Rise

Hancock County, with a boost of 170 to 8,921, was one of only 11 of the 55 counties in West Virginia showing an increase in school enrollment over last year.

School officials at Charleston said the over-all figure has dropped for the second consecutive year. Statewide enrollment for the first month of classes this fall totaled 428,539 — down 7,402 from enrollments last fall.

Enrollment in secondary schools was reported down 3,000 at 188,859. Elementary enrollment for the current school year totaled 239,680, a drop of 4,402.

The officials also said the state has 154 fewer public schools in operation this fall than it had a year ago. However, much of the decrease is attributed to continued consolidation of small rural schools.

The decrease left 1,797 public schools conducting classes.

The office of H. Thomas McCray, executive director of the West Virginia Board of School Finance, compiled the figures Friday.

The statistics showed the number of teachers is up this fall, resulting in an improved student - teacher ratio. The board said 129 more teachers are in the public school system this year than were employed last fall.

In addition to Hancock, counties showing enrollment increases were Wood, Ohio, Jackson, Mason, Monongalia, Brooke, Tyler, Wyoming, Hardy and Wirt.

The biggest numerical loss was in the state's largest school system in Kanawha County, where enrollment was down 932.

Congress

the closing weeks as absenteeism increased.

Leading Republicans, including former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., the 1964 GOP presidential nominee, sharply criticized the 89th Congress.

They said it had passed much unwise legislation, bulled through by the Johnson administration through sheer political power and without adequate debate.

Democrats replied that it was the huge majorities they won last year, which they attributed in large part to a repudiation of Goldwater, that enabled them to put through in 1965 many measures included in their party's program for years.

Republicans also attacked the spending record of the 1965 session. Appropriations voted in its 9½ months totaled $119.3 billion, second only to the $47 billion appropriated in 1942.

Even with a Democratic edge of 68-32 in the Senate and 294-141 in the House, Johnson did not win all that he asked for.

Probably the three most important measures which failed were at the top of organized labor's legislative list. They were:

A bill to repeal section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act and end the right of states to ban the union shop.

A bill to extend minimum wage coverage to 4.5 million additional workers.

A bill to set federal standards for amount and duration of unemployment compensation payments, now determined by the states.

All these remain alive for the 1966 session, which convenes Jan. 10, but their prospects are uncertain.

Area Cars Involved In Rear-End Collision

Hancock County sheriff's deputies reported a rear - end auto collision north of the Newell bridge on State Route 66 Friday night.

A 1965 convertible driven by James A. Wallace, 38, of 314 Indiana Ave., Chester, slid into the rear of a 1964 two - door sedan driven by Harl Stover, 53, of Pughtown, when Stover stopped in the line of traffic heading south, the report said.

Combined damage of $350 was estimated to the vehicles.

Neither motorist was injured and no citations were issued. The accident was timed at 7:30.

ate which would stand tests in federal courts.

Both plans were actually drafted by Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe and approved by the board at separate meetings.

The House plan, for 99 representatives, was adopted Sept. 8 when Chester Goble was auditor. The Senate formula, for 33 seats, was adopted Sept. 27, when Roger Cloud had taken over as auditor.

Gov. James A. Rhodes and Secretary of State Ted W. Brown participated in both meetings. The plans they approved were not announced until Oct. 15, the day they were filed with a federal court which had called for proposals to revise representation of both houses.

The court Monday formally ruled that the way the Senate has been apportioned through the last elections was unconstitutional.

But the Apportionment Board had anticipated this ruling, on Saxbe's advice that a Senate plan would have to be devised to satisfy U. S. Supreme Court "one man, one vote" rulings. He told the board then he did not plan to defend the existing Senate apportionment at a hearing before the federal court.

At the Sept. 8 meeting, Saxbe recommended that the board rely on "the intrinsic validity of a wholly legal apportionment plan rather than upon assertion of the rights of 'The Apportioning Board' to make the apportionment. . . ."

Board members subsequently have contended that the plans adopted by the board now are the legal apportionment of the state since the board is charged by law with developing legislative districts.

The federal court, however, has not indicated whether it will consider those plans "official" or just proposals.

FALL AND YOUR SEWAGE SYSTEM

Heavy fall rains bring many problems not the least of which is the far-reaching damage to sewage systems.

Correctly designed septic tanks are constructed according to the daily flow of water and sewage, the gallonage capacity being at least equal to the amount entering in a 24-hour period. This is to allow for the solids to settle out so that digestion can take place in the bottom. An excess to the designed flow can be catastropic to any system.

What happens then, when flooding occurs? Water-laden ground forces water into pipes, and through cracks in walls and covers of septic tanks . . . water pours through manhole covers, and vents, creating an agitation which prevents settling. This increases in flow, therefore, carries large quantities of undigested materials to the drainfields and cesspools . . . areas which are already straining to dispose of tremendous quanties of liquid become clogged with solids, and even less effectual. Often such drainage areas overflow and become health hazards to both humans and livestock.

How Sea-Cal Enzymes Help:

Enzymes are not limited to working on solids that are settled —they travel where water will carry them — constantly breaking down proteins, fats and starches, wherever they may be. Therefore in overloaded and flooded systems, Sea-Cal continues its work right into the wells, cesspools, and drainfields—freeing the ground of pore - clogging solids and keeping drainage at its peak.

After the floods have subsided most systems have lost the nucleus of their digestion, which is the bacteria, and often take months to get started. Hancock One Of 11 Counties With School Enrollment Rise

Hancock County, with a boost of 170 to 8,921, was one of only 11 of the 55 counties in West Virginia showing an increase in school enrollment over last year.

School officials at Charleston said the over-all figure has dropped for the second consecutive year. Statewide enrollment for the first month of classes this fall totaled 428,539 — down 7,402 from enrollments last fall.

Enrollment in secondary schools was reported down 3,000 at 188,859. Elementary enrollment for the current school year totaled 239,680, a drop of 4,402.

The officials also said the state has 154 fewer public schools in operation this fall than it had a year ago. However, much of the decrease is attributed to continued consolidation of small rural schools.

The decrease left 1,797 public schools conducting classes.

The office of H. Thomas McCray, executive director of the West Virginia Board of School Finance, compiled the figures Friday.

The statistics showed the number of teachers is up this fall, resulting in an improved student - teacher ratio. The board said 129 more teachers are in the public school system this year than were employed last fall.

In addition to Hancock, counties showing enrollment increases were Wood, Ohio, Jackson, Mason, Monongalia, Brooke, Tyler, Wyoming, Hardy and Wirt.

The biggest numerical loss was in the state's largest school system in Kanawha County, where enrollment was down 932.

the closing weeks as absenteeism increased.

Leading Republicans, including former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., the 1964 GOP presidential nominee, sharply criticized the 89th Congress.

They said it had passed much unwise legislation, bulled through by the Johnson administration through sheer political power and without adequate debate.

Democrats replied that it was the huge majorities they won last year, which they attributed in large part to a repudiation of Goldwater, that enabled them to put through in 1965 many measures included in their party's program for years.

Republicans also attacked the spending record of the 1965 session. Appropriations voted in its 9½ months totaled $119.3 billion, second only to the $47 billion appropriated in 1942.

Even with a Democratic edge of 68-32 in the Senate and 294-141 in the House, Johnson did not win all that he asked for.

Probably the three most important measures which failed were at the top of organized labor's legislative list. They were:

A bill to repeal section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act and end the right of states to ban the union shop.

A bill to extend minimum wage coverage to 4.5 million additional workers.

A bill to set federal standards for amount and duration of unemployment compensation payments, now determined by the states.

All these remain alive for the 1966 session, which convenes Jan. 10, but their prospects are uncertain.

Area Cars Involved In Rear-End Collision

Hancock County sheriff's deputies reported a rear - end auto collision north of the Newell bridge on State Route 66 Friday night.

A 1965 convertible driven by James A. Wallace, 38, of 314 Indiana Ave., Chester, slid into the rear of a 1964 two - door sedan driven by Harl Stover, 53, of Pughtown, when Stover stopped in the line of traffic heading south, the report said.

Combined damage of $350 was estimated to the vehicles.

Neither motorist was injured and no citations were issued. The accident was timed at 7:30.

ate which would stand tests in federal courts.

Both plans were actually drafted by Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe and approved by the board at separate meetings.

The House plan, for 99 representatives, was adopted Sept. 8 when Chester Goble was auditor. The Senate formula, for 33 seats, was adopted Sept. 27, when Roger Cloud had taken over as auditor.

Gov. James A. Rhodes and Secretary of State Ted W. Brown participated in both meetings. The plans they approved were not announced until Oct. 15, the day they were filed with a federal court which had called for proposals to revise representation of both houses.

The court Monday formally ruled that the way the Senate has been apportioned through the last elections was unconstitutional.

But the Apportionment Board had anticipated this ruling, on Saxbe's advice that a Senate plan would have to be devised to satisfy U. S. Supreme Court "one man, one vote" rulings. He told the board then he did not plan to defend the existing Senate apportionment at a hearing before the federal court.

At the Sept. 8 meeting, Saxbe recommended that the board rely on "the intrinsic validity of a wholly legal apportionment plan rather than upon assertion of the rights of 'The Apportioning Board' to make the apportionment. . . ."

Board members subsequently have contended that the plans adopted by the board now are the legal apportionment of the state since the board is charged by law with developing legislative districts.

The federal court, however, has not indicated whether it will consider those plans "official" or just proposals.

FALL AND YOUR SEWAGE SYSTEM

Heavy fall rains bring many problems not the least of which is the far-reaching damage to sewage systems.

Correctly designed septic tanks are constructed according to the daily flow of water and sewage, the gallonage capacity being at least equal to the amount entering in a 24-hour period. This is to allow for the solids to settle out so that digestion can take place in the bottom. An excess to the designed flow can be catastropic to any system.

What happens then, when flooding occurs? Water-laden ground forces water into pipes, and through cracks in walls and covers of septic tanks . . . water pours through manhole covers, and vents, creating an agitation which prevents settling. This increases in flow, therefore, carries large quantities of undigested materials to the drainfields and cesspools . . . areas which are already straining to dispose of tremendous quanties of liquid become clogged with solids, and even less effectual. Often such drainage areas overflow and become health hazards to both humans and livestock.

How Sea-Cal Enzymes Help:

Enzymes are not limited to working on solids that are settled —they travel where water will carry them — constantly breaking down proteins, fats and starches, wherever they may be. Therefore in overloaded and flooded systems, Sea-Cal continues its work right into the wells, cesspools, and drainfields—freeing the ground of pore - clogging solids and keeping drainage at its peak.

After the floods have subsided most systems have lost the nucleus of their digestion, which is the bacteria, and often take months to get started. Can We Afford Education?

If your school district has a proposed levy on the ballot Nov. 2, will you vote for it?

Or will you try to find reasons for voting against it?

Everybody is for education.

Yet, one of the hardest proposition to put across is a school levy.

What happens?

Too many people squirm away from local responsibility for local action.

They say someone else should pay; that they can't afford to pay it.

What they mean is they don't care who pays as long as they don't have to pay.

But of course they do have to pay. Somebody always has to pay.

If responsibility is shifted from localities to the state or the federal government, it costs not only what it would have cost locally but that much plus bureaucratic shrinkage and losses to school districts which get back more than they put in.

SCHOOL levies are based on property valuation.

They should be. They enhance property value. The better the school, the more valuable the property.

But some property owners talk as if their property was being confiscated when school levies are proposed.

They do this because the levies aren't hidden. They want to be deceived by hocus-pocus into thinking education is going to cost less than it does, but what happens is that it costs more because of shrinkage and fund shuffling.

School taxes have accounted for the fine communities of the past and present.

They have been paid by people who believed in local responsibility for local progress—who believed schools were something people could and should take care of themselves.

They have epitomized the ability of the American people to do for themselves what no one else could do for them as well and certainly not any better.

IT IS unfortunate that subtle tomfoolery about the best way to pay for education fools so many people.

Education is the world's greatest bargain in human progress. It has been America's secret. No other nation ever dreamed of universal education paid for with public funds.

The same facilities and services would be out of reach of all but the wealthy if they had to be provided privately.

Ask yourself if you can afford what education costs in your school district.

The answer is Yes.

U.S. Inferiority Complex

What is happening to the all-American idea that every other nation is one-up on Uncle Sam?

It's as if Americans had discovered en masse that other nations get into their pants one leg at a time—just like Sam.

Wherever Americans look, they see evidence that things are not going well for the insuperables. It has been a year since Khrushchev had the rug pulled from under him by his own board of trustees—and that once powerful figure is now a non-person. The Communist superstate is having its troubles.

The once-feared Chinese, it turns out, have been rustling paper tigers in Asia. When the time came to put their power where their mouths had boasted it would be, nothing happened.

The monsoon came and went in Viet Nam and the ballyhooed offensive that was going to wipe out the South Vietnamese and their "advisers" didn't amount to much.

Bewhiskered Castro, biggest mouth in Latin America, has opened the Cuban escape hatch, to let Cubans flee to the Unied States, leaving their money and possessions behind them—a Machiavellian robber scheme.

Even Charles de Gaulle, the towering Frenchman, is being foreshortened by events over which he has no control and never did have.

Hitler, Mussolini, Tojo, Stalin, Chiang, even Franklin Roosevelt and Harry Truman; all are men of normal stature as perspective lengthens and judgment supplants emotion.

Throughout the maze of personalities and circumstances that shape events there always has run a strong thread of conviction that the United States would come out on the short end.

The other fellow's diplomacy, airplanes, submarines, guns, ships, tanks, missiles, rockets, scientists and educators always would be a shade better.

Poor blundering Uncle Sam would be lucky to stay alive in the vortex of so much adversity; that was the size of it. He would be outdone at every turn by wicked opponents and unscrupulous friends.

Has there been a change? Is there a change occurring day by day as events deepen the impression Uncle Sam's shortcomings are neither more nor less than the shortcomings of other nations?

Or, to state the query more simply. Is the United States finally getting over its inferiority complex and the over-assertiveness and over-aggressiveness that went with it — the superiority complex?

Letter From Max

By Martin Miller

Dear Truman Twill:

You go too far in your efforts to rub a fellow the wrong way.

A few weeks ago, you held forth on the hazards of swimming, which was one of my favorite recreations. And just the other day, you were moaning about the hardships of winter, completely ignoring the joys of skiing, ice skating, sledding and snowball rolling.

You must be so intractable you have never been in traction, to coin a phrase.

Speaking of winter, you wrote, "It's the season to be snug—and comfortable—and warm—and relaxed." I had no idea the years had overtaken you to this extent.

Surely you are aware that mankind has made the greatest progress in the temperate zones because of their invigorating climate.

Snug, comfortable and relaxed, indeed!

NORMAL human beings hereabouts are checking the rigging on their skis, the laces on their skates and wondering if the old sled will last through another season of downhill races and belly-slams.

Autumn is the time to lay in a stock of ski wax, patented blade sharpeners and other fun items.

You must have a short memory to forget what fun it is to ride through the drifted snow in a one-horse open sleigh with bells jingling all the way to grandmother's house.

And one of the saddest experiences a child can have is to receive a nifty shiny Flexible Flyer at Christmas in an open winter when there is no white fluffy stuff on which to try it out.

There is a hard core of radicals in this country who cling to the belief our people are not becoming lazy and soft, but when one reads such things as you wrote that core becomes harder and more radical.

SCARCELY anything is more invigorating than to face into a stiff frigid breeze, with icy flakes stinging the skin, making the cheeks red as apples and stimulating blood circulation.

One of the more sickening developments lately has been the boom in cosmetics for men. Cosmetics for men, Twill. Doesn't that mean anything to you?

Next thing you know they will be putting out masculine vanity tables loaded with vials of mysterious ungents guaranteed to produce that "lumberjack look," "Gigolo look," "executive appearance," "distinctive difference," "suave skin" or "college color."

You could save some money and have a better time by engaging in winter sports.

Next time you have to go out in a blizzard, don't call me, I'll call you.

Faithfully yours,
MAX

From Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: I have been sizing up the Cotton Corners candidates for public office. They are a crummy lot.

This is not unusual.

It used to bother me. It still does, but now it bothers me for a different reason.

I think we are going from bad to worse a little faster than is safe. This is what I mean.

As long as we kept plugging along at the same level of mediocrity there was no danger that officeholders would exceed our expectations of their public performances. We knew we'd get what we paid for.

They would be moderately efficient, moderately honest, moderately ambitious.

This is how we have served representative democracy—by not trusting public services to ultra-ambitious, ultra-bright people.

We have governed ourselves on the principle of the lowest common denominator. This has kept government under control.

I know we have been partial to the illusion that public servants are something special and a cut above the ordinary. We have done this to comfort ourselves. We have ascribed qualities to them they never had.

We have been like the poor souls who tell you their doctor is the greatest for miles around, because that is what they want to believe.

We want to have faith in our public officials; that's the size of it. And it has worked out pretty well, on the whole, because the least common denominators we chose to hold public offices were a pretty fair lot.

But recently the median quality of these people has been declining. This is probably due to the rising demand for people of their type in other lines of work.

It is leaving government in the hands of people who couldn't cut the mustard in other lines of work.

This may be true only of the ones I can see from Cotton Corners. It would be dangerous to generalize on a matter of this magnitude.

Even in its local application, I cannot be sure that officeholders are being downgraded to a point of danger. What I am afraid of is that one day we'll wake up and find ourselves in the middle of a Chinese fire drill in local government.

That could happen if we have too many bubbleheads on the public payroll at the same time.

I never have yearned for geniuses. I am afraid of geniuses. My faith is in the common people of the United States—the mediocrities who keep the ship of state on an even keel.

I just wish I could be sure we were going to level off on mediocrities, nothing less. Your aunt says to look who's talking — old Moses Mediocrity himself.

Dock Workers Back U.S. Policy

By Victor Riesel

NEW YORK — The postcard from Thailand was not exactly of the "having wonderful time" type.

"Had to land in Bangkok," said the card. "The ILA (International Longshoremen's Association) nearly had a new president. Could not land because of gunfire. Will leave here today. Teddy."

Victor Riesel

The card, addressed to intense, terse John Bowers, ILA executive vice president, was from his colleague and president, Ted Gleason. Later he did fly through the ack-ack into Saigon for the State Department.

Gleason, for almost 50 years an old wharf hand, has been moving up and down the South Vietnamese coast surveying the Southeast Asian seaports, examining the ancient docks, watching the tortured inflow of the millions of tons needed to move and feed an army and rehabilitate a war-ripped nation.

FEW AMERICANS KNOW cargo slinging as does "Teddy." After he returns to report to the Pentagon and State Department on what's needed for the shifting of this vast tonnage into a tiny nation over ancient piers, he'll dispatch cadres of volunteer union longshoremen to show the South Vietnamese what modern stevedoring really means.

But, really, Teddy Gleason will be doing more than that. He will be giving the living lie to the Sino-Soviet propaganda charge that the people of America are with the draft card burners and Viet Cong friendship committees, which positively were scattered through many "peace" parades the other Saturday.

Behind Gleason are powerful labor leaders reflecting the mood of millions of their followers. This will be evident on Thursday, Oct. 28. Then, labor's high command will meet in special session in the national AFL-CIO headquarters across from the White House.

Labor leaders always have business-as-usual. But out of the routine will come a drive to show the world and especially the Sino-Soviet strategists that the street demonstrators do not speak for the people of America.

This Executive Council session is the final one before the national AFL-CIO convention scheduled to open in San Francisco on Dec. 9. The Oct. 28 one-day meeting will formalize the plans to turn the convention—representing over 13 million—into a mass rally in support of U.S. commitments in South Viet Nam.

The handful of labor leaders who have been marching with the friends of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front will have their chance to sound off before their peers. But the odds are they won't stand up and be counted.

Nor do they seem eager to get out to Saigon amidst the anti-aircraft fire and terrorists' plastic bombs. But there is a move now to have the labor movement itself be counted specifically—and by the millions. Ted Gleason's colleague, John Bowers, personally saw a draft card burning the other day. So did several longshoremen. They went to their leader and suggested he start collecting signatures to show where the dockwallopers stand. He did.

There now are almost 5,000 workers' names on the scrolls which will be trundled down to Secretary of State Dean Rusk—5,000 names, and endless thousands more to come, of embittered workers, whose ambitions are to stash away a few dollars here, a few bucks there, so "the kids can go to college some day."

And they wonder why the educated, more privileged youngsters seem to spurn the land which gave them such ease and luxury and freedom from fear.

FOR JOHN BOWERS THIS is just the beginning. He will seek millions of signatures—first in New York among the Central Labor Council's one million members and then amongst the millions of others.

It is vital, he says, that the young cubs who sound so much like lions in the street do not appear to be the voice of America. More vital now, perhaps, than is realized.

Some 10 South Vietnamese labor leaders will visit Washington and other U.S. cities. What they see and hear they will report back to the war-torn peoples of their homeland.

If these 10 men return and say that the working people of America are not with them, the working people in the cities and out on the land in all Southeast Asia will lose heart and faith. And free peoples will lose a continent.

And as the Nazis used to say—tomorrow, the world.

Graft Rampant In Red Eden

By Henry Taylor

Numerous Russian painters like the modernist Naluvajko have left Russia to paint abstract pictures. Most have joined Polish painter Zbigniew Kupcynski in Warsaw, whose abstracts sell for about three-months' salary of a qualified engineer.

Their art is hung on the ancient 14th-century Brabican wall. All state that bribery alone got them out of the U.S.S.R and into Poland.

This is the snake — graft that lives, coils and thrives on an unheralded scale throughout the Red Eden.

Graft has passed the point of no return. It is established and crystalized in nearly everything. It ranks with the biggest untold stories of the Communist world.

Graft lit the fuse that destroyed Nikita Khrushchev's son-in-law, Izvestia editor Alexi Adzhubei, and destroyed Khrushchev himself in the showdown that ousted him.

Western intelligence knows graft kindled the Kremlin's recent economic shakeup. The mess brought Soviet Deputy Premier Veniamin E. Dymshits, chairman of the State Committee for Materials and Technical Supply, into a dogfight with Commissar Nikolai K. Baibokov.

Baibokov is chairman of the State Planning Committee and is reportedly enmeshed with Commissar Vladimir N. Novikov, who is supposed to supervise the industrial ministries.

IN ALL totalitarian regimes, power feasts on the same fare — graft and corruption. Amazingly, it can even be monitored now on the Soviet radio — although the reason remains a full-blown mystery.

A recent Moscow broadcast dealing with the chronic housing shortage admitted:

"Whole families in good health are living in Moscow hospitals. More than 7,000 healthy people occupy the dearly needed hospital space, 750 in Gradsky hospital alone. They must move. One family of three got into Gradsky when an official friend claimed their grandfather was a chemist there before the Russo-Japanese war, 60 years ago."

French intelligence, the best in Czechoslovakia, says Red President Antonin Novotny of Czechoslovakia, lush as a Persian cat, sits in medieval Hradshin Castle, king-like and remote. French intelligence lists him as the best-bribed man in the satellite states.

When I was in Berlin, two Czech defectors in turn, one from the S.T.B. (State Bezpecnost) Security Police, the other from the O.B.Z. (Obranne Zpravodajstvi), its military counterpart, confirmed to French intelligence that they gave all their salary to their boss and lived on half the graft they extracted themselves. The other half too, went upstairs."

The Central Labor Office of the Czech Communist party handles the military draft. Each youth must serve 18 months compulsory military service — but not if you can afford a kickback to the S.T.B. or O.B.Z. An estimated half of the students at Prague's Charles University got there that way.

Then the kickback starts all over again with procurement of books and sometimes even selection of classes. Everything that is not compulsory in the curriculum is prohibited.

IT IS everywhere agreed throughout the satellite countries that you get an apartment when you're on the list by graft, and only by graft, or by becoming a police informer.

I wrote from Budapest how American automobiles show up in Red Hungary. The supply doesn't come from American manufacturers. It comes from Austrian dealers who've bought the cars legally and can do with them what they please.

They label each automobile a "gift package," and this is the official description on the shipping paper Hungarian custom officials receive. Graft does the rest.

More than 200 American automobiles have been passed in this way since January. The Budapest salesmen's commissions are deposited in fake names in Vienna banks. Most of the "salesmen" are Red bureaucrats.

The quiet, churning poison seeps everywhere in the Red world as a way of daily life and lays in layers, one above the other, from the wretched bottom right straight to the top.

Ex-GOP Figure Honored

Congress was busy last Wednesday getting ready for adjournment, but part of the day the leaders of the Republican party in both houses were bowing their heads in prayer in a memorial service to Robert Humphreys. He died a few days ago of cancer, at the age of 60, after many years of service with the Republican National Committee and the joint Senate-House Republican Leadership Conference.

The name of Bob Humphreys was not known throughout the country. He was no television celebrity. He was rarely mentioned in the newspapers.

But he made a deep impression in the national capital as an honest and conscientious worker in the field of politics.

He never misled a reporter. Though he wrote many a speech and public declaration that made headlines, he was one of those anonymous workers whose services over the years were invaluable to the Republican party.

When such a man departs from life, the story of this career gets no such attention as marks the passing of someone elected to high office. But this time, leaders of the Republican party and members of Congress from both parties, as well as a large number of newspapermen and other friends, assembled at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, where a remarkable eulogy was delivered by Sen. Everett Dirksen, Republican leader of the senate.

He said that Bob Humphreys had a "devotion to his country unsurpassed by that of any patriot whose name glows from the pages of history."

THE ILLIONOIS senator added:

"What mortal being, standing on the threshold of infinity, has not pondered what lies beyond the veil which separates the seen from the unseen?

"What mortal being, responding to that musical instinct that earthly dissolution is at hand, has not contemplated what lies beyond the grave?

"What mortal being upon whom has descended that strange and serene resignation that life's journey is about at an end has not thought about that eternal destination and what might be there?

"Centuries ago, the man Job, so long blessed with every material blessing, only to find himself sorely afflicted by all that can befall a human being, sat with his companions and uttered the timeless, ageless question, 'If a man die, shall he live again?'

"In the Easter season, when all Christendom observes the resurrection and seeks answers to many questions, there in the forefront is the question raised by Job, 'If a man die, shall he live again?' . . .

"Who would persuasively contend that this work of the Great Designer could only end in oblivion, in destruction without a trace? Who will contend that this—the noblest work of the Great Designer—man, with dominion over all living things, man, with a brain and a will, with a mind and a soul, man with intelligence and divinity should come to an end when the spirit forsakes its earthly temple? . . .

"The falling leaves are a reminder that Winter will soon be here to embrace the earth in wintry sleep. Comes the inevitable caress of Spring, also from the hand of the Great Designer, to bring life and color. Fragrance and beauty to the eager earth. It is the resurrection of Spring. It is an answer to the ageless question of Job, 'If a man die, shall he live again?' Surely he shall, as surely as day follows night, as surely as the stars follow their courses, as surely as the crest of every wave brings its trough."

THOSE OF US who heard the eulogy felt it was an appropriate tribute to Bob Humphreys.

His career was a useful one. He did newspaper work in the Midwest and in Washington until 1949, when he became public relations director of the Republican Congressional Committee.

He was a man with a sense of honor who dealt fairly with the press and was equally frank and outspoken in the private councils of the Republican party itself. He never mismanaged the news. He will be missed in Washington.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Bill Booth, former high school star here, was making a name for himself on the freshmen football team at Ohio State University.

An appeal for a renewed effort in the fight for social justice embodied in the National Security Act was voiced by National President George Nordlin of St. Paul at a district meeting of Eagles lodges here.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — A capacity audience was on hand to hear Upton Close, veteran world traveler and commentator, speak at Memorial Auditorium under auspices of the East Liverpool Teachers Association.

A man walked into the police station here and asked to have himself "blacklisted" in the city's taverns in an effort to cure a drinking habit. He signed a report, before witnesses, that the action be taken as veteran officers mumbled in the background, "If we hadn't been here, we wouldn't have believed it."

TEN YEARS AGO — Preliminary design plans for two bridges across the Ohio River, including one in the Shippingport - Industry area, were ordered drawn up by Beaver County commissioners after engineers submitted a final traffic survey showing the bridges would be feasible.

Climaxing an argument at a Beechwood home, a Salem man went outside and rammed his auto into his brother's parked car, then drove away.

Can We Afford Education?

If your school district has a proposed levy on the ballot Nov. 2, will you vote for it?

Or will you try to find reasons for voting against it?

Everybody is for education.

Yet, one of the hardest proposition to put across is a school levy.

What happens?

Too many people squirm away from local responsibility for local action.

They say someone else should pay; that they can't afford to pay it.

What they mean is they don't care who pays as long as they don't have to pay.

But of course they do have to pay. Somebody always has to pay.

If responsibility is shifted from localities to the state or the federal government, it costs not only what it would have cost locally but that much plus bureaucratic shrinkage and losses to school districts which get back more than they put in.

SCHOOL levies are based on property valuation.

They should be. They enhance property value. The better the school, the more valuable the property.

But some property owners talk as if their property was being confiscated when school levies are proposed.

They do this because the levies aren't hidden. They want to be deceived by hocus-pocus into thinking education is going to cost less than it does, but what happens is that it costs more because of shrinkage and fund shuffling.

School taxes have accounted for the fine communities of the past and present.

They have been paid by people who believed in local responsibility for local progress—who believed schools were something people could and should take care of themselves.

They have epitomized the ability of the American people to do for themselves what no one else could do for them as well and certainly not any better.

IT IS unfortunate that subtle tomfoolery about the best way to pay for education fools so many people.

Education is the world's greatest bargain in human progress. It has been America's secret. No other nation ever dreamed of universal education paid for with public funds.

The same facilities and services would be out of reach of all but the wealthy if they had to be provided privately.

Ask yourself if you can afford what education costs in your school district.

The answer is Yes.

U.S. Inferiority Complex

What is happening to the all-American idea that every other nation is one-up on Uncle Sam?

It's as if Americans had discovered en masse that other nations get into their pants one leg at a time—just like Sam.

Wherever Americans look, they see evidence that things are not going well for the insuperables. It has been a year since Khrushchev had the rug pulled from under him by his own board of trustees—and that once powerful figure is now a non-person. The Communist superstate is having its troubles.

The once-feared Chinese, it turns out, have been rustling paper tigers in Asia. When the time came to put their power where their mouths had boasted it would be, nothing happened.

The monsoon came and went in Viet Nam and the ballyhooed offensive that was going to wipe out the South Vietnamese and their "advisers" didn't amount to much.

Bewhiskered Castro, biggest mouth in Latin America, has opened the Cuban escape hatch, to let Cubans flee to the Unied States, leaving their money and possessions behind them—a Machiavellian robber scheme.

Even Charles de Gaulle, the towering Frenchman, is being foreshortened by events over which he has no control and never did have.

Hitler, Mussolini, Tojo, Stalin, Chiang, even Franklin Roosevelt and Harry Truman; all are men of normal stature as perspective lengthens and judgment supplants emotion.

Throughout the maze of personalities and circumstances that shape events there always has run a strong thread of conviction that the United States would come out on the short end.

The other fellow's diplomacy, airplanes, submarines, guns, ships, tanks, missiles, rockets, scientists and educators always would be a shade better.

Poor blundering Uncle Sam would be lucky to stay alive in the vortex of so much adversity; that was the size of it. He would be outdone at every turn by wicked opponents and unscrupulous friends.

Has there been a change? Is there a change occurring day by day as events deepen the impression Uncle Sam's shortcomings are neither more nor less than the shortcomings of other nations?

Or, to state the query more simply. Is the United States finally getting over its inferiority complex and the over-assertiveness and over-aggressiveness that went with it — the superiority complex?

Letter From Max

By Martin Miller

Dear Truman Twill:

You go too far in your efforts to rub a fellow the wrong way.

A few weeks ago, you held forth on the hazards of swimming, which was one of my favorite recreations. And just the other day, you were moaning about the hardships of winter, completely ignoring the joys of skiing, ice skating, sledding and snowball rolling.

You must be so intractable you have never been in traction, to coin a phrase.

Speaking of winter, you wrote, "It's the season to be snug—and comfortable—and warm—and relaxed." I had no idea the years had overtaken you to this extent.

Surely you are aware that mankind has made the greatest progress in the temperate zones because of their invigorating climate.

Snug, comfortable and relaxed, indeed!

NORMAL human beings hereabouts are checking the rigging on their skis, the laces on their skates and wondering if the old sled will last through another season of downhill races and belly-slams.

Autumn is the time to lay in a stock of ski wax, patented blade sharpeners and other fun items.

You must have a short memory to forget what fun it is to ride through the drifted snow in a one-horse open sleigh with bells jingling all the way to grandmother's house.

And one of the saddest experiences a child can have is to receive a nifty shiny Flexible Flyer at Christmas in an open winter when there is no white fluffy stuff on which to try it out.

There is a hard core of radicals in this country who cling to the belief our people are not becoming lazy and soft, but when one reads such things as you wrote that core becomes harder and more radical.

SCARCELY anything is more invigorating than to face into a stiff frigid breeze, with icy flakes stinging the skin, making the cheeks red as apples and stimulating blood circulation.

One of the more sickening developments lately has been the boom in cosmetics for men. Cosmetics for men, Twill. Doesn't that mean anything to you?

Next thing you know they will be putting out masculine vanity tables loaded with vials of mysterious ungents guaranteed to produce that "lumberjack look," "Gigolo look," "executive appearance," "distinctive difference," "suave skin" or "college color."

You could save some money and have a better time by engaging in winter sports.

Next time you have to go out in a blizzard, don't call me, I'll call you.

Faithfully yours,
MAX

From Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: I have been sizing up the Cotton Corners candidates for public office. They are a crummy lot.

This is not unusual.

It used to bother me. It still does, but now it bothers me for a different reason.

I think we are going from bad to worse a little faster than is safe. This is what I mean.

As long as we kept plugging along at the same level of mediocrity there was no danger that officeholders would exceed our expectations of their public performances. We knew we'd get what we paid for.

They would be moderately efficient, moderately honest, moderately ambitious.

This is how we have served representative democracy—by not trusting public services to ultra-ambitious, ultra-bright people.

We have governed ourselves on the principle of the lowest common denominator. This has kept government under control.

I know we have been partial to the illusion that public servants are something special and a cut above the ordinary. We have done this to comfort ourselves. We have ascribed qualities to them they never had.

We have been like the poor souls who tell you their doctor is the greatest for miles around, because that is what they want to believe.

We want to have faith in our public officials; that's the size of it. And it has worked out pretty well, on the whole, because the least common denominators we chose to hold public offices were a pretty fair lot.

But recently the median quality of these people has been declining. This is probably due to the rising demand for people of their type in other lines of work.

It is leaving government in the hands of people who couldn't cut the mustard in other lines of work.

This may be true only of the ones I can see from Cotton Corners. It would be dangerous to generalize on a matter of this magnitude.

Even in its local application, I cannot be sure that officeholders are being downgraded to a point of danger. What I am afraid of is that one day we'll wake up and find ourselves in the middle of a Chinese fire drill in local government.

That could happen if we have too many bubbleheads on the public payroll at the same time.

I never have yearned for geniuses. I am afraid of geniuses. My faith is in the common people of the United States—the mediocrities who keep the ship of state on an even keel.

I just wish I could be sure we were going to level off on mediocrities, nothing less. Your aunt says to look who's talking — old Moses Mediocrity himself.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — A capacity audience was on hand to hear Upton Close, veteran world traveler and commentator, speak at Memorial Auditorium under auspices of the East Liverpool Teachers Association.

A man walked into the police station here and asked to have himself "blacklisted" in the city's taverns in an effort to cure a drinking habit. He signed a report, before witnesses, that the action be taken as veteran officers mumbled in the background, "If we hadn't been here, we wouldn't have believed it."

TEN YEARS AGO — Preliminary design plans for two bridges across the Ohio River, including one in the Shippingport - Industry area, were ordered drawn up by Beaver County commissioners after engineers submitted a final traffic survey showing the bridges would be feasible.

Climaxing an argument at a Beechwood home, a Salem man went outside and rammed his auto into his brother's parked car, then drove away.

Dedication Exercises Set

THE REV. DELBERT MILLER is shown examining painting which he has mounted in the new Sunday School addition at the Assembly of God Church in Salineville.

The Assembly of God Church of Salineville, located at the corner of Washington and Jefferson Sts., will hold dedication services for the new Sunday School addition and rededicate the remodeled nave Sunday at 2 p.m.

The guest speaker will be the Rev. Donald Bressette of Columbus, state Sunday School and youth director of the denomination.

THE REMODELING program was launched in October 1964. The new addition is 44 feet long and 20 feet wide and includes a pastor's study, nursery, three classrooms, two restrooms and furnace room, adding a total of 1,300 square feet to the church.

The present church was started some 20 years ago when a group of people traveled to Cuyahoga Falls to services held at a church there. Then Mrs. I. A. Shank and Lucella Bussiett came to Reilly's Methodist Episcopal Church and held a revival. From the revival a group of people wanted to have a Pentecostal Church, so they rented one side of the Dodge Building and Rev. Harold Ettinger began driving from Cuyahoga Falls to the services. Later he and his family moved upstairs in an apartment over the church.

IN APRIL of 1929, the church became affiliated with the General Council of the Assemblies of God, with headquarters in Springfield, Mo. In 1932, Rev. Ettinger resigned and took a charge in Bridgeport, Conn. Succeeding pastors were the Rev. Glenn Horst, the Rev. Fleming Van Meter, the Rev. Elmer Lewis, the Rev. Dorothy Ellis, the Rev. Dean Smith, the Rev. Milton Rimble, Mrs. Alta Washburn, the Rev. Thomas Jennings, the Rev. Terry Diehl, the Rev. Densil Smith, the Rev. Jerry Armstrong, the Rev. Ellis Damiani, the Rev. William Hillard and the present minister, the Rev. Delbert Miller, who lives in the church parsonage on High St. Rev. Miller came to Salineville 3½ years ago from Van Wert, Ohio.

After moving from the Dodge building, the Assembly built a church on W. Main St. When the grade school building was to be erected, the church was moved to its present location. The record attendance in Sunday School was reached last December with a total of 179. Under the leadership of Rev. Miller, the church has shown a growth in every department.

YOU CAN PURCHASE a beautiful family Monument for what it costs to mark the average non-monument cemetery plot with individual flat metal markers on a four or six grave lot. Let no one tell you differently. Experience the pride that comes in perpetuating the memory of your loved ones. Place them to rest in a traditional Monument cemetery, where you may erect an impressive family Memorial in their honor. Why not visit Graham and Wagner's showrooms, where you can shop comfortably indoors and in privacy? A courteous representative will gladly assist you in making your selection from the many beautifully designed Monuments created by our artists, who offer you this specialized service at no extra cost. If you live beyond a visit, we offer home counsel or transportation, no obligation, of course. If for reasons of economy or because of cemetery restrictions you may require a Bronze Marker, we carry a complete display in our showrooms. May we assist you in making your selection NOW, before the hard winter touches the cemetery? You have approximately four weeks weather permitting, in which to place the foundation. Dedication Exercises Set

THE REV. DELBERT MILLER is shown examining painting which he has mounted in the new Sunday School addition at the Assembly of God Church in Salineville.

The Assembly of God Church of Salineville, located at the corner of Washington and Jefferson Sts., will hold dedication services for the new Sunday School addition and rededicate the remodeled nave Sunday at 2 p.m.

The guest speaker will be the Rev. Donald Bressette of Columbus, state Sunday School and youth director of the denomination.

THE REMODELING program was launched in October 1964. The new addition is 44 feet long and 20 feet wide and includes a pastor's study, nursery, three classrooms, two restrooms and furnace room, adding a total of 1,300 square feet to the church.

The present church was started some 20 years ago when a group of people traveled to Cuyahoga Falls to services held at a church there. Then Mrs. I. A. Shank and Lucella Bussiett came to Reilly's Methodist Episcopal Church and held a revival. From the revival a group of people wanted to have a Pentecostal Church, so they rented one side of the Dodge Building and Rev. Harold Ettinger began driving from Cuyahoga Falls to the services. Later he and his family moved upstairs in an apartment over the church.

IN APRIL of 1929, the church became affiliated with the General Council of the Assemblies of God, with headquarters in Springfield, Mo. In 1932, Rev. Ettinger resigned and took a charge in Bridgeport, Conn. Succeeding pastors were the Rev. Glenn Horst, the Rev. Fleming Van Meter, the Rev. Elmer Lewis, the Rev. Dorothy Ellis, the Rev. Dean Smith, the Rev. Milton Rimble, Mrs. Alta Washburn, the Rev. Thomas Jennings, the Rev. Terry Diehl, the Rev. Densil Smith, the Rev. Jerry Armstrong, the Rev. Ellis Damiani, the Rev. William Hillard and the present minister, the Rev. Delbert Miller, who lives in the church parsonage on High St. Rev. Miller came to Salineville 3½ years ago from Van Wert, Ohio.

After moving from the Dodge building, the Assembly built a church on W. Main St. When the grade school building was to be erected, the church was moved to its present location. The record attendance in Sunday School was reached last December with a total of 179. Under the leadership of Rev. Miller, the church has shown a growth in every department.

Lunch was served 220 by Mrs. Estella Baker and committee. Guests included two visitors from the Steubenville Senior Citizens Group.

Additional Plans To Be Made For 'Disaster' Drill

Additional plans for a planned disaster drill will be made at a meeting of the Columbiana County Civil Defense organization Wednesday night at the Glenmoor fire station.

Reports on the readiness of the various units were submitted at the monthly meeting Tuesday night at the Courthouse in Lisbon, with Alex Rutecki, county director, and Ernestine Teagarden, head of the Lisbon organization, presiding. Directors and members of various CD organizations in the county attended.

The drill will be a simulated disaster and will include bringing a fire in a building under control, care and treatment of various types of casualties, setting up and operation of a command post, rescue squads, a mass feeding operation, hospital tent and other elements of disaster care.

Those desiring additional information about CD and the disaster drill may contact Jack Capshaw at WOHI, new publicity chairman.

THIRD—I will protect the rights of all people affected by the relocation of State Route 7 through Wellsville.

A similar resolution was adopted by the House.

25 Years Of 'Greetings'

Nation's First Peacetime Draft Was Launched 25 Years Ago In Number Drawing At Washington

By ROBERT POPP

EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW
FeaturePages
East Liverpool, O., Saturday, Oct. 23 Page 8

Twenty-five years ago next Friday, the United States held the most gigantic lottery in its history—the drawing that established the order in which men 21-35 would be called to military duty in the nation's first peacetime draft.

Thousands in the Tri-State District crowded around radio receivers as Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson reached into a gigantic fish bowl in an auditorium in Washington, D. C., to draw the first numbers.

The initial lottery was to have a direct effect on the lives of 10,501 men in Columbiana County, including 3,058 in East Liverpool, who had registered for the draft 13 days earlier.

The date was Oct. 29, 1940. It was a time of high drama as the nation braced itself for the draft lottery. Although the United States still was at peace, many sensed that the time of direct involvement in World War II was not far away.

THE TRI-STATE AREA'S MEN had registered with a smile and quip nearly two weeks earlier, the first stage in the establishment of the peace time draft. The term of service was to be one year under what Congress called the Selective Service and Training Act.

Actually, many of the men called to duty late in 1940 and early in 1941 were not to see their homes again as civilians until 1945. The attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941, took the U. S. into the war and lengthened all terms of service to the duration, plus six months.

Enactment of the draft law came in 1940 only after one of the most bitter debates in the history of the U. S. Congress.

The peacetime Army of the U. S. was pitifully small, ill-equipped for the fluid battle maneuvers of the day and trained primarily in the static trench warfare tactics of an earlier generation.

President Roosevelt set the stage for the registration with a proclamation calling for enrollment of all men 21-35, inclusive. Machinery was set up to sign the men on Oct. 16, 1940, known as "R-Day."

The Columbiana County Election Board handled the registration in the county, directing men to sign in their usual voting places any time between 7 a. m. and 9 p. m. on that date. East Liverpool then had 25 voting places and the county had 112, as against 167 today.

THE ELECTION BOARD and its staff worked without extra pay for the enrollment and the polling places were utilized without payment of rent. The President's proclamation in that economy - conscious time declared that no money would be spent for payrolls or rentals.

Men trooped to the registration points bright and early on "R-Day." For days, newspapers and radio stations had drummed the essential facts of the registration into their minds and they knew the procedure by heart.

When the enrollment was over, 10,501 men had been enrolled in Columbiana County. Nationwide, 16,404,000 men were registered.

The first East Liverpool district draft board already had been organized to move ahead with the next step in the selective service program.

H. R. Thompson was chairman, Lee Cooper, secretary, and Fleming Wiant, clerk. The other members were Albert I. McLain, Harlan Finley and Ray Shively.

To begin the draft procedure, each board shuffled the registration cards thoroughly and assigned them serial numbers. The serial numbers ran from 1 to the highest number. For instance, in East Liverpool, the serial numbers ran as high as 3,058. Each board forwarded a list of its serial numbers to Washington for preparation for the lottery.

Lists also were retained in the local board offices to help in assignment of order numbers — the order in which the men faced possible call to duty.

AT WASHINGTON, THE order numbers were placed on individual slips of paper which were then sealed in opaque capsules and dumped in the gigantic bowl. The stage then was set for the lottery.

The first serial number drawn would become Order No. 1 for boards throughout the nation. The men holding that number would be the first to receive questionnaires and to be processed as prospective draftees.

There were 8,500 capsules in the big bowl, which was locked in a treasury department vault pending the drawing.

Newspapers and radio stations throughout the nation were set up to report the lottery and its effect in their areas. They had obtained list of the registrants from their draft boards, identifying men with their numbers.

The moment the first number was drawn, they were ready to rush into print or onto the air to report that John Doe had been drawn as No. 1 in that particular area.

In the case of The Review, the task was multiplied threefold, as it was set up to report the order numbers for Beaver and Hancock Counties as well as Columbiana County.

All the major radio networks placed microphones in the departmental auditorium in which the drawings were to be held and dozens of newspaper reports were on hand as Stimson reached into the bowl, drew out the first capsule and handed it to the President. In a moment, the number was booming over radio loudspeakers and clattering over Teletype machines throughout the nation.

It was 158.

AT THE REVIEW, a reporter made a quick check of the list of serial numbers issued by the local draft board and found the name of Stephen C. Roszler, 777 Fenton St.

He placed a telephone call to the home to obtain background on the holder of Order No. 1 and found that the man still was in bed after working the previous night at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

Roused from his sleep and told he held Order No. 1 in the local draft board's list, Roszler said he was "astonished."

Roszler was 35, due to become 36 on Nov. 25, so he was included in the first registration by a matter of a little more than a month. He worked as a nozzle-setter in the Openhearth Department at Crucible.

Roszler at that time was the father of three children, Patty Lou, 3, Joseph, 8, and Allen, 3 months. Mr. and Mrs. Roszler had lived in East Liverpool only about two months, moving from Midlaand.

As things turned out, Roszler never was drafted. Today he's a genial, balding 60-year-old grandfather of nine who lives with his wife on Cheval St., Dixonville.

HE STILL IS employed in the Open Hearth Department at Crucible, where he has worked since 1933. He will be 61 on Nov. 25, but he is not planning for retirement yet, as he phrases it. Mr. and Mrs. Roszler — their children all grown and married now — reside in a neat one-story frame house on the quiet dead-end street in Dixonville.

Joseph now resides on Midland Heights and Allen lives in LaCroft. Their older daughter now is Mrs. Patty Lou Pabildes of Jamaica, Long Island. Another daughter born in October 1942 now is Mrs. Catherine Herring of Dixonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Roszler resided on Fenton St. for about a year, then made their home on Michigaan Ave. for the next 20 years. They have resided in Dixonville approximately four years.

Roszler recalls the registration day 25 years ago and points out a stroke of fate may have resulted in his assignment of the serial number 158. He went to City Hall to register, got into line at a desk, and then remembered he had forgotten his alien registration card at home.

He left the line, went home and then returned to register.

"I think it was stepping out of the line that brought me serial number 158," Roszler said.

He became a naturalized citizen in 1942.

ERNEST MILLER, then 32, of 627 Railroad St., East End, held Order No. 2 in the East Liverpool area. Charles E. Bryson of Station A held No. 3.

The Lisbon area board assigned Order No. 1 to Kenneth Keith Schubert, 10 Sycamore St., Salineville, then an employe of the Pennsylvania Railroad. William Pugh of East Palestine was No. 2 and Paul Martin Morris, also of East Palestine, was No. 3.

Andrew Walker of Grant St., Newell, held Order No. 1 in the Hancock County Board's list. Arlie Everett Eddy of Hollidays Cove was No. 2 and Bennie Walker Traskoma of Weirton was No. 3.

The draft lottery went on for 17 hours and 31 minutes before all the numbers had been drawn and recorded. For days afterward, newspapers throughout the U.S. published lists of the registrants in numbers which they had been assigned.

It was a comparatively mild, wet day in East Liverpool when the draft lottery was held. A gentle rain was falling and the temperature stood at 55.

East Liverpool and the nation still were fighting their way back out of the depths of the depression. Hundreds were unemployed and the city's relief list showed 290 cases.

Council took action the night before to borrow $88,000 against delinquent real estate taxes to finance the relief department and pay off a $30,719 debt.

ALTHOUGH THE WPA and other federal relief agencies still were functioning, there was a nationwide movement to encourage young men to enlist in the military services as a way of cutting unemployment.

The first Ohio peacetime draft call — for 101 men — was issued Nov. 8, 1940. It and many subsequent small calls were filled by volunteers, men who believed they would finish their one year's service and get back to their civilian pursuits.

The East Liverpool board mailed its first questionnaires to 50 registrants on Nov. 9. It announced 21 young men already had volunteered, enough to fill its quotas into early 1941.

Tin Pan Alley got busy with words and music for popular songs keyed to the nation's preoccupation with the draft.

The hacks banged out "Goodbye Dear, I'll Be Back in a Year," a song that was to be sung ironically years later by men who entered the service in 1940 and 1941 and then had their tours of duty extended indefinitely. Dozens more songs were keyed to the new draft law, including: "Don't Sit Under the Apple Tree with Anyone Else But Me."

THE 1940 REGISTRATION was the largest, but only the first in a series as the U. S. moved toward World War II.

The next, on July 1, 1941, was for men born on or after Oct. 17, 1919, or on or before July 1920. It covered those who had become 21 after the first registration. There was a registration in 1942 for 20 - year-olds and also for men between 35 and 44.

In June 1942, the U. S. registered its youths 18 and 19. This part of the registration became continuous for all men who became 18.

The draft calls in the East Liverpool area were for three or four men, puny by comparison with later quotas in World War II. At the height of the war, the East Liverpool board alone was drafting men in contingents of 75 or more.

25 Years Of 'Greetings'

East Liverpool, O., Saturday, Oct. 23 Page 8

Twenty-five years ago next Friday, the United States held the most gigantic lottery in its history—the drawing that established the order in which men 21-35 would be called to military duty in the nation's first peacetime draft.

Thousands in the Tri-State District crowded around radio receivers as Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson reached into a gigantic fish bowl in an auditorium in Washington, D. C., to draw the first numbers.

The initial lottery was to have a direct effect on the lives of 10,501 men in Columbiana County, including 3,058 in East Liverpool, who had registered for the draft 13 days earlier.

The date was Oct. 29, 1940. It was a time of high drama as the nation braced itself for the draft lottery. Although the United States still was at peace, many sensed that the time of direct involvement in World War II was not far away.

THE TRI-STATE AREA'S MEN had registered with a smile and quip nearly two weeks earlier, the first stage in the establishment of the peace time draft. The term of service was to be one year under what Congress called the Selective Service and Training Act.

Actually, many of the men called to duty late in 1940 and early in 1941 were not to see their homes again as civilians until 1945. The attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941, took the U. S. into the war and lengthened all terms of service to the duration, plus six months.

Enactment of the draft law came in 1940 only after one of the most bitter debates in the history of the U. S. Congress.

The peacetime Army of the U. S. was pitifully small, ill-equipped for the fluid battle maneuvers of the day and trained primarily in the static trench warfare tactics of an earlier generation.

President Roosevelt set the stage for the registration with a proclamation calling for enrollment of all men 21-35, inclusive. Machinery was set up to sign the men on Oct. 16, 1940, known as "R-Day."

The Columbiana County Election Board handled the registration in the county, directing men to sign in their usual voting places any time between 7 a. m. and 9 p. m. on that date. East Liverpool then had 25 voting places and the county had 112, as against 167 today.

THE ELECTION BOARD and its staff worked without extra pay for the enrollment and the polling places were utilized without payment of rent. The President's proclamation in that economy - conscious time declared that no money would be spent for payrolls or rentals.

Men trooped to the registration points bright and early on "R-Day." For days, newspapers and radio stations had drummed the essential facts of the registration into their minds and they knew the procedure by heart.

When the enrollment was over, 10,501 men had been enrolled in Columbiana County. Nationwide, 16,404,000 men were registered.

The first East Liverpool district draft board already had been organized to move ahead with the next step in the selective service program.

H. R. Thompson was chairman, Lee Cooper, secretary, and Fleming Wiant, clerk. The other members were Albert I. McLain, Harlan Finley and Ray Shively.

To begin the draft procedure, each board shuffled the registration cards thoroughly and assigned them serial numbers. The serial numbers ran from 1 to the highest number. For instance, in East Liverpool, the serial numbers ran as high as 3,058. Each board forwarded a list of its serial numbers to Washington for preparation for the lottery.

Lists also were retained in the local board offices to help in assignment of order numbers — the order in which the men faced possible call to duty.

AT WASHINGTON, THE order numbers were placed on individual slips of paper which were then sealed in opaque capsules and dumped in the gigantic bowl. The stage then was set for the lottery.

The first serial number drawn would become Order No. 1 for boards throughout the nation. The men holding that number would be the first to receive questionnaires and to be processed as prospective draftees.

There were 8,500 capsules in the big bowl, which was locked in a treasury department vault pending the drawing.

Newspapers and radio stations throughout the nation were set up to report the lottery and its effect in their areas. They had obtained list of the registrants from their draft boards, identifying men with their numbers.

The moment the first number was drawn, they were ready to rush into print or onto the air to report that John Doe had been drawn as No. 1 in that particular area.

In the case of The Review, the task was multiplied threefold, as it was set up to report the order numbers for Beaver and Hancock Counties as well as Columbiana County.

All the major radio networks placed microphones in the departmental auditorium in which the drawings were to be held and dozens of newspaper reports were on hand as Stimson reached into the bowl, drew out the first capsule and handed it to the President. In a moment, the number was booming over radio loudspeakers and clattering over Teletype machines throughout the nation.

It was 158.

AT THE REVIEW, a reporter made a quick check of the list of serial numbers issued by the local draft board and found the name of Stephen C. Roszler, 777 Fenton St.

He placed a telephone call to the home to obtain background on the holder of Order No. 1 and found that the man still was in bed after working the previous night at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

Roused from his sleep and told he held Order No. 1 in the local draft board's list, Roszler said he was "astonished."

Roszler was 35, due to become 36 on Nov. 25, so he was included in the first registration by a matter of a little more than a month. He worked as a nozzle-setter in the Openhearth Department at Crucible.

Roszler at that time was the father of three children, Patty Lou, 3, Joseph, 8, and Allen, 3 months. Mr. and Mrs. Roszler had lived in East Liverpool only about two months, moving from Midlaand.

As things turned out, Roszler never was drafted. Today he's a genial, balding 60-year-old grandfather of nine who lives with his wife on Cheval St., Dixonville.

HE STILL IS employed in the Open Hearth Department at Crucible, where he has worked since 1933. He will be 61 on Nov. 25, but he is not planning for retirement yet, as he phrases it. Mr. and Mrs. Roszler — their children all grown and married now — reside in a neat one-story frame house on the quiet dead-end street in Dixonville.

Joseph now resides on Midland Heights and Allen lives in LaCroft. Their older daughter now is Mrs. Patty Lou Pabildes of Jamaica, Long Island. Another daughter born in October 1942 now is Mrs. Catherine Herring of Dixonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Roszler resided on Fenton St. for about a year, then made their home on Michigaan Ave. for the next 20 years. They have resided in Dixonville approximately four years.

Roszler recalls the registration day 25 years ago and points out a stroke of fate may have resulted in his assignment of the serial number 158. He went to City Hall to register, got into line at a desk, and then remembered he had forgotten his alien registration card at home.

Columbiana County's new game protector already is faced with an old problem.

The new officer, Ralph M. Drake, says the old problem is that of area residents wanting to keep young wild animals for pets.

Although he has been on the job for less than two months, Ralph reports he has received numerous calls from persons who have picked up small animals and taken them home for pets.

This is a violation of State Game law. Also, the parents of the animal usually are nearby and the young one is not as helpless as he appears, Ralph commented.

Anyone caught with a baby animal is subject to arrest. Many call asking if they can obtain a pet permit, but this only can be issued during the regular hunting season. Animals taken during the regular season by legal means can be kept if a permit is obtained.

Ralph says he tries to discourage anyone from keeping a wild animal for a pet because they never completely become domesticated.

TAKING THE ANIMALS by "legal means" refers to either wounding with a gun or capturing with a dog.

This covers raccoons, squirrels, rabbits, groundhogs and others. These seem to be the most common animals picked up for pets.

Ralph states the young are very friendly and easy to handle when they are very small. But after about two years, after they become full adults, they are hard to handle and are not to be trusted around children. They have to be kept caged continually and no longer have any value as a pet.

Ralph says he has received several calls from persons who have had such pets and then found they no longer can control them. "They want me to take them out into the woods and release them," he commented.

Ralph, 30, came here from Wayne County. He is residing with his family in a trailer home on the Highlandtown Wildlife Area. He and his wife, Shirley, have a son, Eric, 6, and a daughter, Brenda, 4.

A NATIVE OF MORGAN County, he is a graduate of Homer Union High School, a Marine veteran, and served with the Muskingum Conservancy District before joining the Ohio Division of Wildlife. He completed his training at Ohio Wildlife School Oct. 1, 1964.

He is part of the four-county organizational unit which includes Columbiana, Carroll, Jefferson and Harrison Counties. This program was set up by the Wildlife Division about a year ago.

Although Ralph will work primarily in Columbiana County,

he can call on aid or give aid to any of the protectors in the unit. This provides better coverage of the entire area.

Anyone wanting to contact him may call his home at 679-2860, on the Salineville exchange, or through the Columbiana County Sheriff's office.

Ralph is naturally an outdoor sportsman himself and presently is training a young female bird dog. He said he has flushed coveys of quail and some grouse on the Highlantown reserve.

He also enjoys fishing, and commented one of the first things that caught his eye when he moved into the area was Beaver Creek. Ralph says sportsmen here are very fortunate to have such a stream of fish. I agree heartily.

GLENN BOWERS, acting executive director of the Pennsylvania Game Commission, has been appointed executive director, replacing M. J. Golden who retired in August.

Bowers, a native of York County, now resides near Dillsburg. He is a graduate of Pennsylvania State University, and has been a commission employe since 1948.

Robert Lichtenberger of Camp Hill succeeds Bowers.

PENNSYLVANIA has discontinued a $5 bounty on great horned owls. Last year, $5,405 was paid on 1,081 owls probated for bounty.

As in past years, all bounties are discontinued during hunting seasons from Oct. 15-Jan. 1.

Slalom Vs. Skoal?

If Winter Comes, Can Sprain Be Far Behind?

(It is true what they say about skiers. But not completely true. Collin Neal of Anderson Blvd., executive at the First National Bank and a snow enthusiast who suffered a fractured leg on the slopes two years ago explains why.)

By COLLIN L. NEAL

If the frost is on the football and the sap is on the wane, can skiing season be far away?

No, thank Heavens. And all over the North Temperate Zone dedicated and not-so-dedicated skiers are conditioning themselves for the rigors to come.

Not the physical rigors. That is easy. But for the mental strain caused by otherwise decent people who consider all skiers in the same general grouping with grade school dropouts, child molesters and non-repentant alcoholics.

There are those jaded and unenlightened persons who think—and even say out loud—that there is an extremely close relationship between sap and skiing.

THEIR ARGUMENTS, sharply punctuated by guffaws and giggles and lots of leg slapping, usually follow the bromidic line that skiing is dangerous, pneumonia-producing and little more than a weak excuse to ogle the pretty young things in stretch pants.

If not actually stated in a manner that allows no discussion, the inference is unmistakably left that skiers are wanton dissipates who spend most of the day in the lounge swilling hot-buttered rums and then careen down the steepest ski run with the avowed purpose of breaking something (usually a leg) so that future skiing can be dispensed with altogether and 100 per cent of the skier's time can be spent in the bar.

This is ludicrous and erroneous, and the record should be set straight.

While it may well be true about the danger, the pneumonia, the ogling, the swilling and even the careening, it is absolutely untrue that the skier is trying to break anything.

A good sprain will work just as well.

And can be used all season without the attendant handicap of clumping around the rest of the winter in a concrete sock.

AS PROOF, the following discussion covering this technique appeared in a well-known ski manual:

"The experienced sprainee, if he can manage the injury early in December, will have almost three months to dress up in his Bogners (impossible if a toe-to-hip walking cast is in the way) and limp about the ski lodge.

"A cane can be used if the veteran has the required dash and nonchalance, but this is optional, and in any case should not be overdone. A skier is, after all, expected to suffer some.

"It has been stated by some experts that a full cranial bandage suggesting a serious head injury sustained in the same accident with the sprain, can be worn effectively.

"This is true, but a word of caution to the beginner: the bandage alone is usually enough to keep the head warm, particularly since the head is never out of doors, and unless the bandage is firmly looped under the chin (not recommended because of the interference with eating and or drinking) the careless removal of a hat may remove the bandage as well. Or even worse, tilt the bandage to a rakish angle which tends to destroy the somber effect intended.

"SOME BEGINNERS object to the early season sprain in the mistaken fear that normal activities may be curtailed. This is nonsense. While it may be impossible to work or carry out the garbage, the frug or monkey can be accomplished without any but the most observant critic being aware of the serious hitch in the gait during the more formal movements."

So stated a well - known ski manual.

It is hoped that the refutation of just this one erroneous notion held by the non-skiing set that skiers try to break their legs will serve to explode all the other wrong notions, and will help to obtain for skiers everywhere the consideration and compassion they deserve.

You And The Law

Charlie had a roaring noise in his ears most of the time. It wasn't because he had a fever, however. It was caused by the many airplanes that zipped over his house on their approach to the local airport.

One night, after a particularly heavy amount of air traffic, Charlie complained to the authorities.

"I CAN'T get a good night's sleep, the plaster is falling off the walls of my house and I don't dare have any friends over for a party because we couldn't possibly carry on a conversation with all that noise," he cried. "You've invaded my privacy and taken my property with your airplanes!"

The airport official apologized, but remained firm. "Our aircraft have to come over your house if they are going to land. We didn't tell you to build your house there. The airport was there long before you moved in," he replied.

Charlie was furious, but didn't shout (because this made his sore ears ring all the more). He called his attorney and lamented the problem. "Isn't there anything I can do?" he pleaded.

IF CHARLIE lived in Ohio, there would be a remedy. According to a recent decision of the Ohio Supreme Court, there exists a "taking" of private property for public use whenever air flights are so low and so frequent as to be a direct and immediate interference with enjoyment and use of the land.

However, while this case decided a point of law, it did not decide the ultimate liability of the airport owners. This was left for additional court proceedings. The court did note in its opinion, however, that a person's residence is a use for which he is entitled to compensation whenever he can prove a direct and immediate interference with that use.

New Service Available At Library Here

Xerox copies of periodicals, journals and other materials of the State Library and Ohio State University Library at Columbus are now available through the Carnegie Public Library of E. 4th St. at a minimum cost.

Anyone wishing such copies of publications not available at the library here may have the library request Xerox copies under the new arrangement, Mrs. Beatrice Davidson, librarian, said.

Charge for the service, for which additional personnel has been hired at Columbus, is 5 cents a sheet. The actual cost of the operation is 10 cents a sheet, but half of the operation in the service for public libraries is paid for by state funds.

Another special service by the library in connection with the State Library is a telephone link to the state's Union Catalog, Mrs. Davidson said.

This free service is designed to aid those wishing to use the Union Catalog for book listings, Mrs. Davidson explained.

Stamps In The News

Abraham Lincoln, whose face has been depicted on many U.S. stamps, will replace himself on a new issue. The first in the new "Prominent American" series of regular stamps will bear a portrait of the former President and will replace the familiar 4 cent lavender Lincoln stamp which has been in use since 1954. The new 4 center is black and white.

It is postal policy to redesign regular stamps (noncommemoratives) about every 10 years. In the next several years the series of 18 new regular stamps will be issued in denominations ranging from 1 cent to $5.

The design of the new Lincoln stamp is by Bill Hyde of San Francisco. He based the portrait on a Mathew Brady photograph of a Lincoln profile. In the background is the side of a log cabin and on the top is a crude carving of the word "Lincoln."

The stamp will be issued with first day ceremonies Nov. 19 in New York during the American Stamp Dealers Association show.

Collectors desiring first-day cancellations should send envelopes addressed "First Day Covers Lincoln Stamp," Postmaster, New York 10001. It must be postmarked no later than Nov. 19.

Since first - day covers are considered first class mail, collectors must allow for the 5-cent rate in submitting their orders. A one - cent stamp will be affixed by the New York Post Office; or collectors may affix their own additional postage to the envelopes, leaving the necessary space in the upper right hand corner for the new 4 - cent Lincoln stamp.

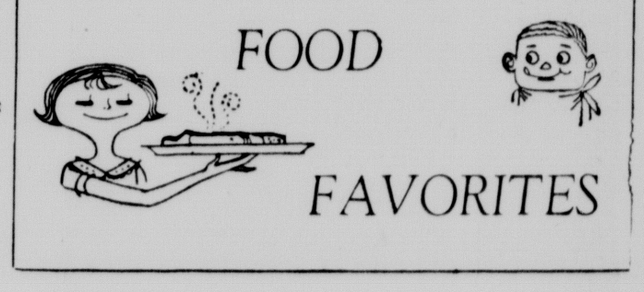
WEST GERMANY has issued eight new stamps in their annual stamp series for Child Welfare, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency.

Contniuing the tradition of the past several years, the new stamps will portray excerpts from Grimm's Fairy Tales. This year the theme is "Cinderella." Four designs are used for the eight stamps —Cinderella and her friendly pigeons, the pigeons bringing Cinderella a dress for the Ball, the Prince pursuing Cinderella while holding her glass slipper, the Prince and Cinderella riding off on horseback. The stamps are multicolored and the additional values on each stamp go to child welfare agencies.

AUSTRALIA has just issued its annual Christmas postage stamp. The 5 pence stamp in blue, brown, black and gold depicts a nativity scene. Norfolk Island at the same time announced its issuance of the same Christmas stamp in the same colors. It is not an overprint but the same stamp with the words "Norfolk Island" at the bottom instead of "Australia."

SWEDEN HAS issued two new stamps to honor the centenary of the death of Frederika Bremer, novelist and champion for women's rights. The 25 ore violet and 3 kroner olive bear a portrait of Frederika Bremer. She was born in Finland in 1801 but came to Sweden as a child.

Her novels of Swedish life won acclaim in Europe and the United States. She was a fighter for women's rights and one of her novels "Hertha" was an important contribution to this effort.



Make the style a smile at your dinner table with this bright, new hot salad creation. Some of the most interesting ingredients have come together in a flavor blend that will be the "talk of the table."

Canned salmon's unique flavor, convenience and versatility have been in style with homemakers across the nation for a long time. The interesting group of ingredients to which salmon was recently introduced promises to put salmon in the limelight as a hot salad sensation.

Rice adds the base, while celery, parsley and ripe olives contribute color. Lemon tartness and the oriental elegance of curry pick up the flavor in lively fashion, as mayonnaise and French dressing blend with the group to round out a classic in salad congeniality.

Table - ready in a jiffy, Baked Salmon - Rice Salad will be a standout at lunch or delightfully different at dinner The style is right. . .try it for "sighs."

Grandson Shows Ex-City Ware At Coast Restaurant

Some dinnerware manufactured at the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles Co. pottery only a few years after the firm began producing whiteware is on display at a California restaurant launched recently by the grandson of one or the pottery's operators.

Homer Knowles II and his wife, Lois, have the ware at their Farmhouse Family Restaurant which they opened in Ventura County in May after running a steak restaurant elsewhere in California for five years.

He is the grandson of Homer Knowles who, with Col. John Taylor and Isaac Knowles, operated East Liverpool's largest pottery, the K T & K for many years.

Some of this same ware is on display at the Museum of the East Liverpool Historical Society at the Carnegie Public Library.

The California restaurant man and wife were married in 1935, and have a daughter, Sally, 22, and a son, Homer Knowles III.

The father was formerly a builder of apartment houses. Homer Knowles I died in 1892 at the age of 41.

The new officer, Ralph M. Drake, says the old problem is that of area residents wanting to keep young wild animals for pets.

Although he has been on the job for less than two months, Ralph reports he has received numerous calls from persons who have picked up small animals and taken them home for pets.

This is a violation of State Game law. Also, the parents of the animal usually are nearby and the young one is not as helpless as he appears, Ralph commented.

Anyone caught with a baby animal is subject to arrest. Many call asking if they can obtain a pet permit, but this only can be issued during the regular hunting season. Animals taken during the regular season by legal means can be kept if a permit is obtained.

Ralph says he tries to discourage anyone from keeping a wild animal for a pet because they never completely become domesticated.

TAKING THE ANIMALS by "legal means" refers to either wounding with a gun or capturing with a dog.

This covers raccoons, squirrels, rabbits, groundhogs and others. These seem to be the most common animals picked up for pets.

Ralph states the young are very friendly and easy to handle when they are very small. But after about two years, after they become full adults, they are hard to handle and are not to be trusted around children. They have to be kept caged continually and no longer have any value as a pet.

Ralph says he has received several calls from persons who have had such pets and then found they no longer can control them. "They want me to take them out into the woods and release them," he commented.

Ralph, 30, came here from Wayne County. He is residing with his family in a trailer home on the Highlandtown Wildlife Area. He and his wife, Shirley, have a son, Eric, 6, and a daughter, Brenda, 4.

A NATIVE OF MORGAN County, he is a graduate of Homer Union High School, a Marine veteran, and served with the Muskingum Conservancy District before joining the Ohio Division of Wildlife. He completed his training at Ohio Wildlife School Oct. 1, 1964.

He is part of the four-county organizational unit which includes Columbiana, Carroll, Jefferson and Harrison Counties. This program was set up by the Wildlife Division about a year ago.

Although Ralph will work primarily in Columbiana County,

he can call on aid or give aid to any of the protectors in the unit. This provides better coverage of the entire area.

Anyone wanting to contact him may call his home at 679-2860, on the Salineville exchange, or through the Columbiana County Sheriff's office.

Ralph is naturally an outdoor sportsman himself and presently is training a young female bird dog. He said he has flushed coveys of quail and some grouse on the Highlantown reserve.

He also enjoys fishing, and commented one of the first things that caught his eye when he moved into the area was Beaver Creek. Ralph says sportsmen here are very fortunate to have such a stream of fish. I agree heartily.

GLENN BOWERS, acting executive director of the Pennsylvania Game Commission, has been appointed executive director, replacing M. J. Golden who retired in August.

Bowers, a native of York County, now resides near Dillsburg. He is a graduate of Pennsylvania State University, and has been a commission employe since 1948.

Robert Lichtenberger of Camp Hill succeeds Bowers.

PENNSYLVANIA has discontinued a $5 bounty on great horned owls. Last year, $5,405 was paid on 1,081 owls probated for bounty.

As in past years, all bounties are discontinued during hunting seasons from Oct. 15-Jan. 1.

Slalom Vs. Skoal?

If Winter Comes, Can Sprain Be Far Behind?

(It is true what they say about skiers. But not completely true. Collin Neal of Anderson Blvd., executive at the First National Bank and a snow enthusiast who suffered a fractured leg on the slopes two years ago explains why.)

By COLLIN L. NEAL

If the frost is on the football and the sap is on the wane, can skiing season be far away?

No, thank Heavens. And all over the North Temperate Zone dedicated and not-so-dedicated skiers are conditioning themselves for the rigors to come.

Not the physical rigors. That is easy. But for the mental strain caused by otherwise decent people who consider all skiers in the same general grouping with grade school dropouts, child molesters and non-repentant alcoholics.

There are those jaded and unenlightened persons who think—and even say out loud—that there is an extremely close relationship between sap and skiing.

THEIR ARGUMENTS, sharply punctuated by guffaws and giggles and lots of leg slapping, usually follow the bromidic line that skiing is dangerous, pneumonia-producing and little more than a weak excuse to ogle the pretty young things in stretch pants.

If not actually stated in a manner that allows no discussion, the inference is unmistakably left that skiers are wanton dissipates who spend most of the day in the lounge swilling hot-buttered rums and then careen down the steepest ski run with the avowed purpose of breaking something (usually a leg) so that future skiing can be dispensed with altogether and 100 per cent of the skier's time can be spent in the bar.

This is ludicrous and erroneous, and the record should be set straight.

While it may well be true about the danger, the pneumonia, the ogling, the swilling and even the careening, it is absolutely untrue that the skier is trying to break anything.

A good sprain will work just as well.

And can be used all season without the attendant handicap of clumping around the rest of the winter in a concrete sock.

AS PROOF, the following discussion covering this technique appeared in a well-known ski manual:

"The experienced sprainee, if he can manage the injury early in December, will have almost three months to dress up in his Bogners (impossible if a toe-to-hip walking cast is in the way) and limp about the ski lodge.

"A cane can be used if the veteran has the required dash and nonchalance, but this is optional, and in any case should not be overdone. A skier is, after all, expected to suffer some.

"It has been stated by some experts that a full cranial bandage suggesting a serious head injury sustained in the same accident with the sprain, can be worn effectively.

"This is true, but a word of caution to the beginner: the bandage alone is usually enough to keep the head warm, particularly since the head is never out of doors, and unless the bandage is firmly looped under the chin (not recommended because of the interference with eating and or drinking) the careless removal of a hat may remove the bandage as well. Or even worse, tilt the bandage to a rakish angle which tends to destroy the somber effect intended.

"SOME BEGINNERS object to the early season sprain in the mistaken fear that normal activities may be curtailed. This is nonsense. While it may be impossible to work or carry out the garbage, the frug or monkey can be accomplished without any but the most observant critic being aware of the serious hitch in the gait during the more formal movements."

So stated a well - known ski manual.

It is hoped that the refutation of just this one erroneous notion held by the non-skiing set that skiers try to break their legs will serve to explode all the other wrong notions, and will help to obtain for skiers everywhere the consideration and compassion they deserve.

You And The Law

Charlie had a roaring noise in his ears most of the time. It wasn't because he had a fever, however. It was caused by the many airplanes that zipped over his house on their approach to the local airport.

One night, after a particularly heavy amount of air traffic, Charlie complained to the authorities.

"I CAN'T get a good night's sleep, the plaster is falling off the walls of my house and I don't dare have any friends over for a party because we couldn't possibly carry on a conversation with all that noise," he cried. "You've invaded my privacy and taken my property with your airplanes!"

The airport official apologized, but remained firm. "Our aircraft have to come over your house if they are going to land. We didn't tell you to build your house there. The airport was there long before you moved in," he replied.

Charlie was furious, but didn't shout (because this made his sore ears ring all the more). He called his attorney and lamented the problem. "Isn't there anything I can do?" he pleaded.

IF CHARLIE lived in Ohio, there would be a remedy. According to a recent decision of the Ohio Supreme Court, there exists a "taking" of private property for public use whenever air flights are so low and so frequent as to be a direct and immediate interference with enjoyment and use of the land.

However, while this case decided a point of law, it did not decide the ultimate liability of the airport owners. This was left for additional court proceedings. The court did note in its opinion, however, that a person's residence is a use for which he is entitled to compensation whenever he can prove a direct and immediate interference with that use.

New Service Available At Library Here

Xerox copies of periodicals, journals and other materials of the State Library and Ohio State University Library at Columbus are now available through the Carnegie Public Library of E. 4th St. at a minimum cost.

Anyone wishing such copies of publications not available at the library here may have the library request Xerox copies under the new arrangement, Mrs. Beatrice Davidson, librarian, said.

Charge for the service, for which additional personnel has been hired at Columbus, is 5 cents a sheet. The actual cost of the operation is 10 cents a sheet, but half of the operation in the service for public libraries is paid for by state funds.

Another special service by the library in connection with the State Library is a telephone link to the state's Union Catalog, Mrs. Davidson said.

This free service is designed to aid those wishing to use the Union Catalog for book listings, Mrs. Davidson explained.

Stamps In The News

Abraham Lincoln, whose face has been depicted on many U.S. stamps, will replace himself on a new issue. The first in the new "Prominent American" series of regular stamps will bear a portrait of the former President and will replace the familiar 4 cent lavender Lincoln stamp which has been in use since 1954. The new 4 center is black and white.

It is postal policy to redesign regular stamps (noncommemoratives) about every 10 years. In the next several years the series of 18 new regular stamps will be issued in denominations ranging from 1 cent to $5.

The design of the new Lincoln stamp is by Bill Hyde of San Francisco. He based the portrait on a Mathew Brady photograph of a Lincoln profile. In the background is the side of a log cabin and on the top is a crude carving of the word "Lincoln."

The stamp will be issued with first day ceremonies Nov. 19 in New York during the American Stamp Dealers Association show.

Collectors desiring first-day cancellations should send envelopes addressed "First Day Covers Lincoln Stamp," Postmaster, New York 10001. It must be postmarked no later than Nov. 19.

Since first - day covers are considered first class mail, collectors must allow for the 5-cent rate in submitting their orders. A one - cent stamp will be affixed by the New York Post Office; or collectors may affix their own additional postage to the envelopes, leaving the necessary space in the upper right hand corner for the new 4 - cent Lincoln stamp.

WEST GERMANY has issued eight new stamps in their annual stamp series for Child Welfare, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency.

Contniuing the tradition of the past several years, the new stamps will portray excerpts from Grimm's Fairy Tales. This year the theme is "Cinderella." Four designs are used for the eight stamps —Cinderella and her friendly pigeons, the pigeons bringing Cinderella a dress for the Ball, the Prince pursuing Cinderella while holding her glass slipper, the Prince and Cinderella riding off on horseback. The stamps are multicolored and the additional values on each stamp go to child welfare agencies.

AUSTRALIA has just issued its annual Christmas postage stamp. The 5 pence stamp in blue, brown, black and gold depicts a nativity scene. Norfolk Island at the same time announced its issuance of the same Christmas stamp in the same colors. It is not an overprint but the same stamp with the words "Norfolk Island" at the bottom instead of "Australia."

SWEDEN HAS issued two new stamps to honor the centenary of the death of Frederika Bremer, novelist and champion for women's rights. The 25 ore violet and 3 kroner olive bear a portrait of Frederika Bremer. She was born in Finland in 1801 but came to Sweden as a child.

Her novels of Swedish life won acclaim in Europe and the United States. She was a fighter for women's rights and one of her novels "Hertha" was an important contribution to this effort.

Make the style a smile at your dinner table with this bright, new hot salad creation. Some of the most interesting ingredients have come together in a flavor blend that will be the "talk of the table."

Canned salmon's unique flavor, convenience and versatility have been in style with homemakers across the nation for a long time. The interesting group of ingredients to which salmon was recently introduced promises to put salmon in the limelight as a hot salad sensation.

Rice adds the base, while celery, parsley and ripe olives contribute color. Lemon tartness and the oriental elegance of curry pick up the flavor in lively fashion, as mayonnaise and French dressing blend with the group to round out a classic in salad congeniality.

Table - ready in a jiffy, Baked Salmon - Rice Salad will be a standout at lunch or delightfully different at dinner The style is right. . .try it for "sighs."

Grandson Shows Ex-City Ware At Coast Restaurant

Some dinnerware manufactured at the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles Co. pottery only a few years after the firm began producing whiteware is on display at a California restaurant launched recently by the grandson of one or the pottery's operators.

Homer Knowles II and his wife, Lois, have the ware at their Farmhouse Family Restaurant which they opened in Ventura County in May after running a steak restaurant elsewhere in California for five years.

He is the grandson of Homer Knowles who, with Col. John Taylor and Isaac Knowles, operated East Liverpool's largest pottery, the K T & K for many years.

Some of this same ware is on display at the Museum of the East Liverpool Historical Society at the Carnegie Public Library.

The California restaurant man and wife were married in 1935, and have a daughter, Sally, 22, and a son, Homer Knowles III.

The father was formerly a builder of apartment houses. Homer Knowles I died in 1892 at the age of 41.

2 Boats Charged In Violation Of Navigation Laws

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — The Coast Guard has charged two small boats with "gross violation of safe navigation laws" in transporting Cuban refugees to the United States across the Florida Straits.

A Coast Guard spokesman announced Friday night that the two U.S.-owned and registered vessels — the Shark Five and the Mistral — were accused of ferrying without a licensed operator and failing to provide sufficient safety equipment.

The Shark Five, a 44-foot sloop which brought 34 refugees and a crew of 10 Oct. 14, was also charged with overloading. The 30-foot Mistral, shuttled 23 refugees across the choppy straits the same day.

Some 50 other small boats have been impounded and their operations are now being investigated by the Coast Guard.

Friday, a group of 89 refugees reached Key West in a converted patrol boat. It was the largest single group so far as the refugee count rose to over 1,200 in the last two weeks.

8 Steps Suggested To Check Threat Of Carbon Monoxide

The East Liverpool Health Department today urged residents to take eight precautionary steps against the threat of carbon monoxide poisoning.

"If people would do the following," officials said, "it's quite possible that we could get through the winter without a sing death:"

2.—Never use rubber hose instead of metal pipe when connecting gas stoves.

3.—Keep all equipment, flues and chimneys clean and in good condition.

4.—Always provide fresh air in rooms when space heaters are used.

5.—Check car mufflers for leaks. Never sit in the car with the motor running with the windows closed.

6.—Before starting the motor of the car, open garage doors. Any kind of gasoline motor, such as lawnmowers, should not be operated within an enclosure.

8.—Never use the oven for heating, even in extreme cold weather.

In calling on the assistance of the local dpeartment, E. W. Arnold, director of the Ohio Department of Health, pointed out that the gas "is the result of incomplete burning of fuel and is due to inadequate supply of fresh air in the area of the heating equipment. Gas is the most common producer of carbon monoxide, but all fuels are capable of producing this poisonous gas when deprived of fresh air or oxygen. Be suspicious of heaters that produce a musty odor."

In further comments about carbon monoxide poisoning, he said, "Carbon monoxide sickens and kills because it cuts off the oxygen (or fresh air) supply to the tissues of the body. When we breathe this gas it replaces the air or oxygen which is necessary for life, causing asphyxiation."

He also explained that this gas is called the "silent killer" because, as a rule, it is odorless, colorless and tasteless.

The following symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning were listed: Headache, dizziness, blurred vision, tiredness and sleepiness. More dangerous symptoms are shortness of breath, nausea, vomiting, fluttering and throbbing of the heart and unconsciousness.

"The latter symptoms," Dr. Arnold said, "can be serious, so it is advisable to seek medical help immdeiately." He further suggested that the victim should be taken to fresh air as quickly as possible. Give mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, or other artificial respiration, while help is coming, he advised.

2 Boats Charged In Violation Of Navigation Laws

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — The Coast Guard has charged two small boats with "gross violation of safe navigation laws" in transporting Cuban refugees to the United States across the Florida Straits.

A Coast Guard spokesman announced Friday night that the two U.S.-owned and registered vessels — the Shark Five and the Mistral — were accused of ferrying without a licensed operator and failing to provide sufficient safety equipment.

The Shark Five, a 44-foot sloop which brought 34 refugees and a crew of 10 Oct. 14, was also charged with overloading. The 30-foot Mistral, shuttled 23 refugees across the choppy straits the same day.

Some 50 other small boats have been impounded and their operations are now being investigated by the Coast Guard.

Friday, a group of 89 refugees reached Key West in a converted patrol boat. It was the largest single group so far as the refugee count rose to over 1,200 in the last two weeks.

8 Steps Suggested To Check Threat Of Carbon Monoxide

The East Liverpool Health Department today urged residents to take eight precautionary steps against the threat of carbon monoxide poisoning.

"If people would do the following," officials said, "it's quite possible that we could get through the winter without a sing death:"

1.—Vent all heaters to flues that are open to outside air.

2.—Never use rubber hose instead of metal pipe when connecting gas stoves.

3.—Keep all equipment, flues and chimneys clean and in good condition.

4.—Always provide fresh air in rooms when space heaters are used.

5.—Check car mufflers for leaks. Never sit in the car with the motor running with the windows closed.

6.—Before starting the motor of the car, open garage doors. Any kind of gasoline motor, such as lawnmowers, should not be operated within an enclosure.

7.—Check and adjust heating equipment at the beginning of each heating season.

8.—Never use the oven for heating, even in extreme cold weather.

The following symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning were listed: Headache, dizziness, blurred vision, tiredness and sleepiness. More dangerous symptoms are shortness of breath, nausea, vomiting, fluttering and throbbing of the heart and unconsciousness.

"The latter symptoms," Dr. Arnold said, "can be serious, so it is advisable to seek medical help immdeiately." He further suggested that the victim should be taken to fresh air as quickly as possible. Give mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, or other artificial respiration, while help is coming, he advised.

Two Mishaps Are Reported

Two minor accidents as motorists were leaving the parking area near Westgate School following the East Liverpool - Steubenville football game Friday night were reported to police.

The collisions occurred within 10 minutes of each other near the entrance to the ramp leading to E. 3rd St., police said. Patrolman W. F. Copestick, who filed the reports, said the accidents were not observed, but drivers notified police.

Emergency Livestock Feed Made Available For Beaver

Lions Club Given City Tax Review

Some East Liverpool businesses never have paid the city income tax since it first was put on the books in 1958, D. G. Wilkinson, city tax commissioner, told the Lions Club afternoon at the Travelers Hotel while discussing the operations of the tax office.

Although he declined to reveal any names, Wilkinson said the businesses always have filed the required reports, but have maintained they have lost money each year.

BUSINESSES pay approximately 15 per cent of the money the city collects each year from the income tax, the tax official continued, but explained that public utilities — such as the gas, electric and telephone companies — and financial institutions are exempt from the levy since they pay a state tax for doing business.

Individuals account for the remaining 85 per cent of the revenue, with 52 per cent coming from amounts withheld by employers from the wages of employes and 33 per cent from individuals whose income is not subject to withholding. That category covers people living in East Liverpool and working in West Virginia or Pennsylvania, or individuals who live here but derive income elsewhere.

One individual pays the local tax on income he receives from a hotel in Europe where he is part owner, Wilkinson said.

The Hall China Co. probably is the largest single source for withholding, turning in a check for roughly $4,000 every three months, he continued. Other large employers turning in amounts withheld from their employes' pay include City Hospital, the Board of Education, Patterson Industries, Inc., American Vitrified Products and The Review, Wilkinson said.

EAST LIVERPOOL, Wilkinson believes, has more people working outside the city than any other city in Ohio, which makes it one of the most difficult places to collect taxes.

East Liverpool's 52 per cent from withholding is far below the 70 to 85 per cent that other Ohio cities receive through withholding, he said. Steubenville, for example, receives more revenue and employs one less person in the tax office because 78 per cent of its revenue comes from withheld amounts, Wilkinson said.

The office has some 4,500 accounts with 3,900 for individuals and 600 for businesses.

The cost of operating the office last year was $21,000, about 6.8 per cent of the amount collected. Wilkinson and three clerks drew $16,056, with the commissioner receiving $450 a month and each clerk getting $296 monthly.

Although taxes are distasteful to everyone, there are some amusing incidents, Wilkinson recalled. A few years ago an elderly woman came to the office and insisted on paying her tax for the year, which amounted to only 36 cents.

He said he told the woman to forget the tax, explaining that he estimates it costs about $1.50 for each account, including wages, postage, stationery and other incidentals.

Because the woman insisted, Wilkinson said he took the amount and she then declared, "Now that I have paid my taxes, I want a sewer line back of my house!"

IN RESPONSE to a question, the commissioner agreed that all taxes are getting out of hand. At a recent seminar for tax collectors, Wilkinson said a state official said state taxes also are insufficient.

The official said three methods were under consideration—a plan for a 2 per cent state income tax, which later was discarded because it would create problems for the 78 communities which have city income taxes; a boost in the state sales tax, or a tax on services where no commodity changes hands, such as haircuts.

(The boost in the state sales tax from 3 to 4 cents on the dollar, which will appear on the ballot at the Nov. 2 election, was not put on the ballot by the state. The Ohio Council for Education, turned down by the State Legislature, obtained sufficient signatures on petitions to place the issue on the ballot.)

Wilkinson was introduced by Ralph Compa, program chairman.

Donald T. Duke, president, announced the Board of Directors will meet Nov. 1 at 8 p. m. at the Potters Savings and Loan Co. annex.

He also read a letter urging support of the 1-mill levy at the Nov. 2 election to provide funds for a new Retarded Children's School.

Richard Walker, a member of the East Liverpool club and zone chairman, and his wife are attending a fall Lions conference this weekend in Columbus. Clarence Sturm, a vice president of CARE and past Lions International president, will speak at the Sunday session.

Potters Throw Scare At Big Red Before Bowing, 28-18

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Capitalize On Fumbles In Second Half; Brawl Marks Contest

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

The East Liverpool Potters, displaying their best all-around offensive form of the season, threw as much of a scare into Steubenville Friday night as the Big Red did against No. 1 Massillon last week before bowing to the tune of 28-18.

With a threat of rain hanging over Patterson Field only 4,100 fans were on hand for the contest, which had been expected to draw well over 5,000.

THE POTTERS rose to new heights in battling the eighth-ranked Big Red on even terms before dropping their record to 3-3-1. Big Red is 6-1.

East Liverpool matched Big Red in touchdowns up to the final minutes, with only a pair of conversions (22-18) separating the two teams until 2:05 was left in the game. At this point, Liverpool gambled from its own 35 and missed a first down by a yard, giving Big Red position for its final touchdown.

Sky high for its game last week with Massillon, Big Red, which was No. 8 in Ohio this week, almost became an upset victim.

Last night's battle apparently will be the last between the two schools as Big Red coach Abe Bryan was somewhat bitter even though his team had come out on top.

BRYAN SAID, "I have never seen anything like what went on tonight. I am not crying, but the officials were allowing the East Liverpool players to call our starting signals and use abusive language."

"As long as I am head football coach at Big Red I will never bring another team of mine to East Liverpool," Bryan vowed.

"There were a number of things I was unhappy with. The contract in football expired this year and we will definitely not renew it.

"When athletics get to this point and a team has to do some of the things which were done tonight, then it's time to get out. I can't approve of them."

The game turned out to be rough battle, marked by a brawl with nine seconds remaining in the first half. Both benches emptied after two players touched off the incident by exchanging blows near midfield following a kickoff which went out of bounds. No one was ejected then.

One player finally was ejected by the officials, with 37 seconds left in the game when East Liverpool's Darryl Jackson was thrown out for slugging.

THE POTTERS' improvement was marked by some sharp blocking by the offensive team, especially the left side of the Potter line, with tackle Bob Doland and guard Don Herron opening gaping holes in the Big Red line.

Defensively, Clarence Crable, the Potters' all-district linebacker last year, was a bearcat as he piled up one Big Red runner after another. Len Walker, 190-pound senior, played a bruising game at defensive tackle.

The name players for Big Red — Mike Palmer and Bob Smith — were contained pretty well, though Smith scored three times on short plunges.

Smith was held to a net of 17 yards rushing while Palmer got 48. Turning his best performance of the year for Big Red was Bob Booth, who led both clubs in rushing with 109 yards on 15 carries.

Bright spots for the Potters were Nick Marchbanks, who rambled for 78 yards on 14 carries, and Herring, who had 68 yards on 13 attempts.

Chuck Winters was on target five times, all to Bob Woods good for 123 yards.

THE STATISTICS were about as even as a game could go. Both teams had 14 first downs and the total yardage rushing and passing was identical with 299.

The Potters got 182 on the ground, while Big Red had 189 and 110 in the air.

The contest opened as if the visitors would score at will. Steubenville took the opening kickoff and marched 71 yards, with a 30-yard reverse by Bob Booth the big gainer.

Burly Bob Smith, 185 - pound fullback, cracked over from the one for his first of three touch-

Oak Glen Soars To 6th Straight, Stops Beavers 27-13

Beaver Eleven Gets Late Start In Losing 4th

By JOHN COMO
Review Sports Writer

"The Bears don't scare."

The Oak Glen High School Golden Bears, that is, and they proved it for the sixth straight time Friday by jolting Beaver Local, 27-13 at Newell Field.

Using a patented "rock 'em sock 'em" defense, combined with a balanced offense, the Golden Bears overcame a fourth-period surge by the visitors to sport a 7-1 season mark.

The fighting Beavers fell to a 3-4 record.

Oak Glen scored in each of the first two periods to muster a 14-0 lead that its defense held up for three quarters.

Beaver Local started applying the pressure in the latter part of the third stanza after thwarting a drive by the Golden Bears on the 12 - yard line. The Beavers didn't stop until they crossed the host's goal line at 9:28 mark of the final stanza as sophomore quarterback Dennis Klembara raced around right end for the tally. Klembara hit end Rich Shilling for the extra point and the Beavers were back in business, trailing by a 14-7 count.

A 42-YARD pass play from Klembara to Shilling on a third and 12 situation was the key play in the drive that took 13 plays.

But, "the Bears don't scare" and in just three plays, Oak Glen regained its 14 - point advantage. Speedy halfback Richard Everly put the damper to the ambitious Beavers as he picked his way 44 yards to score. Ron Rayburn kicked his third conversion of the contest and Oak Glen led, 21-7, with 7:13 remaining.

The conversion kick by Rayburn was his sixth straight through the uprights in 1963.

BEAVER Local wasn't through yet as it marched 71 yards with the ensuing kickoff to close the gap.

The fighting Beavers became the "flying Beavers" on this drive as Klembara connected on five of seven passes to keep the march soaring. A four - yard aerial to Larry Roberts climaxed the drive and pulled Beaver Local within eight points of the hosts at 21-13. A run for the point after failed.

A 28-YARD pass to Shilling and an interference call that permitted an 11-yard gain sparked the drive.

Trying to keep the momentum going, Beaver Local booted an onside kick after the touchdown which Oak Glen covered on the Beavers' 46. Fullback Marvin Six, who bulled through the Beaver defense with ease throughout the game, ripped off a 26-yard gain on the first play from scrimmage and Oak Glen was touchdown-bound on the 17. Six picked up four to the 13 and Dave Gamble charged for five to the eight before Six raced around right end to climax the scoring at the 1:09 mark.

The hard - charging Oak Glen fullback carried two Beaver defenders into the end zone with him as they tried to block his path at the two. Rayburn missed the conversion attempt to halt his string of successes.

Oak Glen's grinding offense scored the first time it received the ball in the first period by marching 66 yards in 12 plays. Gamble ended the drive at the 3:19 mark by scampering 21 yards into the end zone. Gamble's scoring sprint came on fourth down with four yards to go for a first down.

Rayburn kicked through the uprights for a 7-0 advantage.

TOM THAYER passed to Dan Forsythe for 19 yards to keep the drive under way.

The Golden Bears' second touchdown came on a 16-yard pass from Thayer to Everly with 5:48 remaining in the half. Rayburn converted the extra point for a 14-0 lead.

The drive covered 82 yards with Thayer passes to Forsythe and John Zielinsky and the running of Six leading the way.

The running of Six and Everly was too much for the Beavers to handle as each outgained the entire Beaver Local ground attack. Six raced for 120 yards in 12 carries and Everly gained 81 yards in eight carries.

BEAVER Local could muster just 74 yards on the ground against the rugged Oak Glen line.

Klembara hit on 14 of 30 passes for 204 yards, but missed on several tosses to wide open receivers because of the reddogging Golden Bear defenders.

Thayer helped the running attack by connecting on eight of 16 passes for 108 yards.

Head coach Bob Starkey of the Golden Bears lauded the entire team for an outstanding effort. "If any players are to be singled out as standouts, it has to be the front seven of ends Dan Forsythe, Kenny Spencer, tackles John Hissam, Jim Stouffer, middle guards Alan Six, Dick Lugano and linebacker Tom Thayer. All of these boys played a whale of a defensive game. As for the offense, well, those boys speak for themselves through the statistics," Starkey said.

Potters Throw Scare At Big Red Before Bowing, 28-18

Capitalize On Fumbles In Second Half; Brawl Marks Contest

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

The East Liverpool Potters, displaying their best all-around offensive form of the season, threw as much of a scare into Steubenville Friday night as the Big Red did against No. 1 Massillon last week before bowing to the tune of 28-18.

With a threat of rain hanging over Patterson Field only 4,100 fans were on hand for the contest, which had been expected to draw well over 5,000.

THE POTTERS rose to new heights in battling the eighth-ranked Big Red on even terms before dropping their record to 3-3-1. Big Red is 6-1.

East Liverpool matched Big Red in touchdowns up to the final minutes, with only a pair of conversions (22-18) separating the two teams until 2:05 was left in the game. At this point, Liverpool gambled from its own 35 and missed a first down by a yard, giving Big Red position for its final touchdown.

Sky high for its game last week with Massillon, Big Red, which was No. 8 in Ohio this week, almost became an upset victim.

Last night's battle apparently will be the last between the two schools as Big Red coach Abe Bryan was somewhat bitter even though his team had come out on top.

BRYAN SAID, "I have never seen anything like what went on tonight. I am not crying, but the officials were allowing the East Liverpool players to call our starting signals and use abusive language."

"As long as I am head football coach at Big Red I will never bring another team of mine to East Liverpool," Bryan vowed.

"There were a number of things I was unhappy with. The contract in football expired this year and we will definitely not renew it.

"When athletics get to this point and a team has to do some of the things which were done tonight, then it's time to get out. I can't approve of them."

The game turned out to be rough battle, marked by a brawl with nine seconds remaining in the first half. Both benches emptied after two players touched off the incident by exchanging blows near midfield following a kickoff which went out of bounds. No one was ejected then.

One player finally was ejected by the officials, with 37 seconds left in the game when East Liverpool's Darryl Jackson was thrown out for slugging.

THE POTTERS' improvement was marked by some sharp blocking by the offensive team, especially the left side of the Potter line, with tackle Bob Doland and guard Don Herron opening gaping holes in the Big Red line.

Defensively, Clarence Crable, the Potters' all-district linebacker last year, was a bearcat as he piled up one Big Red runner after another. Len Walker, 190-pound senior, played a bruising game at defensive tackle.

The name players for Big Red — Mike Palmer and Bob Smith — were contained pretty well, though Smith scored three times on short plunges.

Smith was held to a net of 17 yards rushing while Palmer got 48. Turning his best performance of the year for Big Red was Bob Booth, who led both clubs in rushing with 109 yards on 15 carries.

Bright spots for the Potters were Nick Marchbanks, who rambled for 78 yards on 14 carries, and Herring, who had 68 yards on 13 attempts.

Chuck Winters was on target five times, all to Bob Woods good for 123 yards.

THE STATISTICS were about as even as a game could go. Both teams had 14 first downs and the total yardage rushing and passing was identical with 299.

The Potters got 182 on the ground, while Big Red had 189 and 110 in the air.

The contest opened as if the visitors would score at will. Steubenville took the opening kickoff and marched 71 yards, with a 30-yard reverse by Bob Booth the big gainer.

Burly Bob Smith, 185 - pound fullback, cracked over from the one for his first of three touch-

Oak Glen Soars To 6th Straight, Stops Beavers 27-13

Beaver Eleven Gets Late Start In Losing 4th

By JOHN COMO
Review Sports Writer

"The Bears don't scare."

The Oak Glen High School Golden Bears, that is, and they proved it for the sixth straight time Friday by jolting Beaver Local, 27-13 at Newell Field.

Using a patented "rock 'em sock 'em" defense, combined with a balanced offense, the Golden Bears overcame a fourth-period surge by the visitors to sport a 7-1 season mark.

The fighting Beavers fell to a 3-4 record.

Oak Glen scored in each of the first two periods to muster a 14-0 lead that its defense held up for three quarters.

Beaver Local started applying the pressure in the latter part of the third stanza after thwarting a drive by the Golden Bears on the 12 - yard line. The Beavers didn't stop until they crossed the host's goal line at 9:28 mark of the final stanza as sophomore quarterback Dennis Klembara raced around right end for the tally. Klembara hit end Rich Shilling for the extra point and the Beavers were back in business, trailing by a 14-7 count.

A 42-YARD pass play from Klembara to Shilling on a third and 12 situation was the key play in the drive that took 13 plays.

But, "the Bears don't scare" and in just three plays, Oak Glen regained its 14 - point advantage. Speedy halfback Richard Everly put the damper to the ambitious Beavers as he picked his way 44 yards to score. Ron Rayburn kicked his third conversion of the contest and Oak Glen led, 21-7, with 7:13 remaining.

The conversion kick by Rayburn was his sixth straight through the uprights in 1963.

BEAVER Local wasn't through yet as it marched 71 yards with the ensuing kickoff to close the gap.

The fighting Beavers became the "flying Beavers" on this drive as Klembara connected on five of seven passes to keep the march soaring. A four - yard aerial to Larry Roberts climaxed the drive and pulled Beaver Local within eight points of the hosts at 21-13. A run for the point after failed.

A 28-YARD pass to Shilling and an interference call that permitted an 11-yard gain sparked the drive.

Trying to keep the momentum going, Beaver Local booted an onside kick after the touchdown which Oak Glen covered on the Beavers' 46. Fullback Marvin Six, who bulled through the Beaver defense with ease throughout the game, ripped off a 26-yard gain on the first play from scrimmage and Oak Glen was touchdown-bound on the 17. Six picked up four to the 13 and Dave Gamble charged for five to the eight before Six raced around right end to climax the scoring at the 1:09 mark.

The hard - charging Oak Glen fullback carried two Beaver defenders into the end zone with him as they tried to block his path at the two. Rayburn missed the conversion attempt to halt his string of successes.

Oak Glen's grinding offense scored the first time it received the ball in the first period by marching 66 yards in 12 plays. Gamble ended the drive at the 3:19 mark by scampering 21 yards into the end zone. Gamble's scoring sprint came on fourth down with four yards to go for a first down.

Rayburn kicked through the uprights for a 7-0 advantage.

TOM THAYER passed to Dan Forsythe for 19 yards to keep the drive under way.

The Golden Bears' second touchdown came on a 16-yard pass from Thayer to Everly with 5:48 remaining in the half. Rayburn converted the extra point for a 14-0 lead.

The drive covered 82 yards with Thayer passes to Forsythe and John Zielinsky and the running of Six leading the way.

The running of Six and Everly was too much for the Beavers to handle as each outgained the entire Beaver Local ground attack. Six raced for 120 yards in 12 carries and Everly gained 81 yards in eight carries.

BEAVER Local could muster just 74 yards on the ground against the rugged Oak Glen line.

Klembara hit on 14 of 30 passes for 204 yards, but missed on several tosses to wide open receivers because of the reddogging Golden Bear defenders.

Thayer helped the running attack by connecting on eight of 16 passes for 108 yards.

Head coach Bob Starkey of the Golden Bears lauded the entire team for an outstanding effort. "If any players are to be singled out as standouts, it has to be the front seven of ends Dan Forsythe, Kenny Spencer, tackles John Hissam, Jim Stouffer, middle guards Alan Six, Dick Lugano and linebacker Tom Thayer. After Hawkins' tally, it was catch up ball all the way for the Clippers as Sebring struck back for two touchdowns in the second stanza on runs by Ron Kilbreath.

Kilbreath crashed over from the one - yard line early in the second quarter and added the points after to deadlock the contest at 8-8. Late in the same stanza, the Sebring halfback raced 12 yards to paydirt to provide a 14-8 cushion going into the intermission.

The Clippers refused to be stopped, however, as Hawkins tallied his second touchdown on a plunge from the one yard line in the opening minutes of the third quarter. A run for the points after failed and the league rivals were tried, 14-14.

Kilbreath showed the Clippers he wasn't through being a pest late in the same period as he crashed in from the one to give Sebring its final lead at 20-14. A run for the extra points failed.

Midway through the fourth stanza, halfback Dick Keller provided Columbiana with a tie as he plunged into the end zone from the two. Keller snared a pass from Clipper quarterback Jim Murphy for the deciding conversion and the host held on for the victory.

Midland Shakes Slump, Rolls Past Braddock, 39-7

The Midland Leopards shook off a losing streak by scoring the first five times they had the ball in rolling to a 39-7 victory over visiting Braddock on parents night Friday at Midland.

The victory puts Midland's record at 3-4 while Braddock now shows a 1-5-1 mark.

While the offensive was putting on its finest show of the season Midland's defense held Braddock to only four yards rushing.

—:—

MIDLAND marched to paydirt on the first series of downs with Rich Mahurt sneaking over from quarterback at the one for the initial TD with 7:05 still remaining in the first period.

With 35 seconds to go in the opening quarter, Tom Wuchina went 12 yards off tackle for another six points.

In the second quarter Dave Vanlier raced 61 yards around end to score being turned loose on key blocks by Joe Noah and Martin Ciancone.

JIM SMITH hit paydirt from the one with 3:45 left in the first half and on the final play of the first half Jan Samuels, third string quarterback, passed to Larry Walker who went 62 yards for the TD.

Wuchina added the final marker in the fourth quarter on a 19 yard burst.

Braddock's lone touchdown was recorded in the third quarter when the visitors marched 97 yards then sent Floyd Oliver over from the one.

—:—

MIDLAND owned a 13-9 edge in the first downs and made 299 yards on the ground. The Leopard defenders threw the Braddock quarterback for a loss on nine occasions.

Vanlier picked up 83 yards in six carries for Midland while Wuchina had 80 in 14 tries.

Potters

The Potters, however, marched right back against one of Ohio's best.

The key play in the 70-yard drive was a third - down pass from Winters to Woods for 12 yards. It was the first of five completions by the Potters' new passing combination, which netted 123 yards.

—:—

A 23-YARD run by Marchbanks on a counter play carried the Potters into Big Red territory at the 28 and six plays later flyweight Darryl Herring, 135-pound fullback, went around the right side to score. A run by Winters for the conversion failed.

Big Red came back strong for its touchdown back. A 57 - yard pass play from Endres to Sims carried to the Potter four and in two plays Smith was banging into the end zone for his touchdown.

Big Red got on the scoreboard again before the half ended. Steubenville took over on its 29 with 57 seconds left and required six plays to score.

During the drive, it appeared the Potters had recovered a fumble on the Big Red 42, but the officials ruled no fumble, explaining the signal was a timeout for Big Red instead.

A razzle-dazzle play which started on the Potter 48 saw Endres pass to Dwight Sims, who took the ball on the Potter 40. As he was hit, Sims lateraled to Palmer streaking to his left and the Big Red halfback rambled to the Potter five on a play covering 43 yards.

A five - yard penalty set Big Red back to the 10 with 26 seconds to go. Then Endres found Roger Sims in the clear for a touchdown pass with nine seconds left in the half. The pass for the conversion wasn't good and the visitors led at intermission, 22-6.

The third quarter became a comedy of errors, with the ball changing hands at a rapid pace.

STEUBENVILLE lost the ball on three fumbles to set up two Potter touchdowns in the third quarter and East Liverpool gave up the ball on three pass interceptions in the same period. Big Red also was penalized 45 yards during the 12 minutes of that quarter.

East Liverpool's first break came when Palmer fumbled on the Big Red 35 and Roy Scott recovered for the Potters. On first down, Winters, showing his top passing form of the season, hit Woods on a 41-yard touchdown pass with 10:41 left in the third quarter. Marchbanks was stopped short after taking a pass from Winters on his attempt to score the conversion.

Two plays later Endres fumbled and Larry Long jumped on the pigskin at the Steubenville 31.

After six plays Herring slid around the right side from the eight and hit paydirt with 2:36 left in the third. Herring's attempt for the conversion was stopped, but the Potters had pulled within striking distance at 22-18.

—:—

WITH THE momentum mounting, the Potters received another break shortly when Carl Natalina covered a Dwight Sims fumble on the Big Red 35.

On second down, Herring raced 23 yards as he cut around defenders to the Big Red 12.

In three downs, the Potters picked up only three yards and the fourth down pass was intercepted by Smith, who ran it out to the Big Red 27.

The Potters got possession with 7:32 left in the game and made their final bid for the upset that would have been heard around Ohio.

After Big Red was stopped on the Potter 27, Marchbanks cracked to the 34, but Herring was held to one yard to the 35.

The Potters went for a pass on a third - and - two situation that failed and then Coach Bob McNea elected to gamble on fourth - and - two. But Big Red stopped Marchbanks almost in his tracks and Steubenville took over deep in Potter territory at the 36 with about six minutes remaining in the game.

A PENALTY which covered eight yards plus two blasts for nine yards by Palmer moved the ball to the two, from where Smith plunged over the left side for his third touchdown of the night. The conversion run failed.

The final TD with 2:05 left in the game put Big Red out of reach at 28-18.

The Potters came back in the last two minutes as Winters and Woods connected on their longest of the night for 50 yards, but Woods was pulled down on the Steubenville 20.

Four pass plays failed to net anything and when Big Red got the ball it ran out the clock.

Johnson Doubtful For Cards' Game

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Loyie Nawlin Humphrey has done in seven National Football League seasons what it normally takes a regular quarterback about one afternoon to do.

But now it finally is Loyie Nawlin Humphrey's turn to see what he can do in one afternoon as a regular.

For Humphrey, better known as Buddy, most likely will start in place of the injured Charley Johnson when the St. Louis Cardinals battle the winless Washington Redskins Sunday.

Johnson, the league's most prolific touchdown tosser this season, has a bruised left shoulder and is a doubtful starter.

The game is a big one for the Cardinals, who need a victory to retain at least a share of the lead in the Eastern Conference. They are tied with the Cleveland Browns, who play the New York Giants. The leaders each have a 4-1 record.

Humphrey, who played for Los Angeles and Dallas before going to St. Louis in 1963, has thrown 45 passes in his career and completed 18 for 216 yards and one touchdown.

In other NFL games, Western Conference leader Green Bay plays Dallas, Detroit is at Chicago, Los Angeles battles Baltimore, Minnesota plays San Francisco and Pittsburgh goes against Philadelphia.

The American League schedule has San Diego at New York tonight and Denver at Buffalo, Kansas City at Houston and Boston at Oakland Sunday.

In playing Cleveland, the Giants have a great opportunity to take a giant step forward. They trail the leaders by one game but have yet to play one of the league's stronger teams.

Green Bay, the only unbeaten NFL team, goes after its sixth triumph against a Dallas team that continues to experiment with its quarterbacks.

Detroit's main task will be to stop Chicago's Gale Sayers, the rookie halfback who exploded with four touchdowns last week

Baltimore should remain on the Packers' heels against Los Angeles, which has won just one game in five starts. Minnesota and San Francisco will be fighting to maintain some hope in the Western race.

The hapless Steelers will be seeking their first victory of the season against the Eagles, who fell short of pulling off a come-from-behind victory over New York last week.

Browns Seen In Good Shape For New York

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns are in their best physical condition in several weeks for the game with the New York Giants in New York Sunday.

The Browns, defending National Football League champions, are favored by eight points to win their third straight game from the Giants.

The Giants, who appeared headed for another last place finish after floundering through the exhibition season this year, surprisingly have a 3-2 record and are only a game behind the Browns and St. Louis Cardinals, who are tied for first place in the East with 4-1 records.

Two former teammates will be going against the Browns.

Mike Bundra, who was with Cleveland most of last season, has won a starting post at defensive tackle with the Giants. Bobby Crespino who went to New York in the trade that brought Dick Modzelewski to the Browns last year, has played most of the time at tight end behind Aaron Thomas.

Defensive lineman Jim Kanicki, who saw limited action against the Dallas Cowboys here last Sunday, may be ready for full-scale duty. Galen Fiss, who has been out since the season opener except for brief stints on the kicking teams, should see some action at linebacker.

Sullivan, McIntyre To Air Reds' Games

CINCINNATI (AP) — Claude Sullivan and Jim McIntyre will be the Cincinnati Reds' radio voices next season.

The appointment of the two sportscasters was made Friday by the George Weidemann Brewing Co., which took over as sponsor of the baseball broadcasts after the 1965 season.

Sullivan broadcast the Reds' games for two years with Waite Hoyt, former New York Yankee pitching star, who became the Reds' broadcaster in 1941. Hoyt retired at the end of this season and after Wiedemann succeeded the Burger Brewing Co. as sponsor.

Casper Won't Let Up, Holds 3-Stroke Lead

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — That guy out there just won't let up," was the observation that best summarized the $100,000 Sahara Invitational golf tournament today.

"That guy" was Bill Casper Jr., who began today's final round exactly where he finished the first three—in front.

Behind Casper were rounds of 66-66-68 and a 54-hole score of 200, 13 under par, three strokes ahead of his nearest challenger, Randy Glover from Florence S.C.

Glover, not too well known, is a handsome young bachelor, a backfield star in high school football at Cheraw, S.C., (pop. 8,000), who is having his best year in four on the PGA tour with earnings of $36,626.

3 Grid Players, Official Injured During Contests

The official was Don Hancock, 1828 Michigan Ave., who was treated for abrasions of the forehead and a small laceration of the eyelid after being kicked in the forehead while working the Wellsville - Salem game at Wellsville.

In the same game, Anthony D'Angelo Jr., 815 Wood St. a player for Wellsville was admitted to City Hospital and reported in "fair" condition today after suffering injuries to the right knee.

The Oak Glen gridders treated were Marvin Six son of Lester Six of New Cumberland R.D. 2 who suffered lacerations of the lower lip in the Oak Glen-Beaver Local game and James Hobbs, son of Clair Hobbs of New Cumberland R. D. 1 was treated for an injured left shoulder.

Dixie Walker Named As Scout For Braves

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Atlanta Braves have named Fred (Dixie) Walker, their batting instructor at Milwaukee for two seasons, as the club's Southeastern scouting representative.

Walker led the National League in hitting with a .357 average in 1944. During an 18-year playing career, he had a .306 batting average.

Midland Shakes Slump, Rolls Past Braddock, 39-7

The Midland Leopards shook off a losing streak by scoring the first five times they had the ball in rolling to a 39-7 victory over visiting Braddock on parents night Friday at Midland.

The victory puts Midland's record at 3-4 while Braddock now shows a 1-5-1 mark.

While the offensive was putting on its finest show of the season Midland's defense held Braddock to only four yards rushing.

—:—

MIDLAND marched to paydirt on the first series of downs with Rich Mahurt sneaking over from quarterback at the one for the initial TD with 7:05 still remaining in the first period.

With 35 seconds to go in the opening quarter, Tom Wuchina went 12 yards off tackle for another six points.

In the second quarter Dave Vanlier raced 61 yards around end to score being turned loose on key blocks by Joe Noah and Martin Ciancone.

JIM SMITH hit paydirt from the one with 3:45 left in the first half and on the final play of the first half Jan Samuels, third string quarterback, passed to Larry Walker who went 62 yards for the TD.

Wuchina added the final marker in the fourth quarter on a 19 yard burst.

Braddock's lone touchdown was recorded in the third quarter when the visitors marched 97 yards then sent Floyd Oliver over from the one.

MIDLAND owned a 13-9 edge in the first downs and made 299 yards on the ground. The Leopard defenders threw the Braddock quarterback for a loss on nine occasions.

Vanlier picked up 83 yards in six carries for Midland while Wuchina had 80 in 14 tries.

Potters

downs. Quarterback Bob Endres hit Dwight Sims with the conversion pass and Big Red held an 8-0 margin with 8:18 left in the first period.

The Potters, however, marched right back against one of Ohio's best.

The key play in the 70-yard drive was a third - down pass from Winters to Woods for 12 yards. It was the first of five completions by the Potters' new passing combination, which netted 123 yards.

—:—

A 23-YARD run by Marchbanks on a counter play carried the Potters into Big Red territory at the 28 and six plays later flyweight Darryl Herring, 135-pound fullback, went around the right side to score. A run by Winters for the conversion failed.

Big Red came back strong for its touchdown back. A 57 - yard pass play from Endres to Sims carried to the Potter four and in two plays Smith was banging into the end zone for his touchdown.

Big Red got on the scoreboard again before the half ended. Steubenville took over on its 29 with 57 seconds left and required six plays to score.

During the drive, it appeared the Potters had recovered a fumble on the Big Red 42, but the officials ruled no fumble, explaining the signal was a timeout for Big Red instead.

A razzle-dazzle play which started on the Potter 48 saw Endres pass to Dwight Sims, who took the ball on the Potter 40. As he was hit, Sims lateraled to Palmer streaking to his left and the Big Red halfback rambled to the Potter five on a play covering 43 yards.

A five - yard penalty set Big Red back to the 10 with 26 seconds to go. Then Endres found Roger Sims in the clear for a touchdown pass with nine seconds left in the half. The pass for the conversion wasn't good and the visitors led at intermission, 22-6.

The third quarter became a comedy of errors, with the ball changing hands at a rapid pace.

STEUBENVILLE lost the ball on three fumbles to set up two Potter touchdowns in the third quarter and East Liverpool gave up the ball on three pass interceptions in the same period. Big Red also was penalized 45 yards during the 12 minutes of that quarter.

East Liverpool's first break came when Palmer fumbled on the Big Red 35 and Roy Scott recovered for the Potters. On first down, Winters, showing his top passing form of the season, hit Woods on a 41-yard touchdown pass with 10:41 left in the third quarter. Marchbanks was stopped short after taking a pass from Winters on his attempt to score the conversion.

Big Red suffered three straight 15 - yard penalties and gave up the ball on a punt, but got it right back when Endres intercepted a Winters pass on the Big Red 25.

Two plays later Endres fumbled and Larry Long jumped on the pigskin at the Steubenville 31.

After six plays Herring slid around the right side from the eight and hit paydirt with 2:36 left in the third. Herring's attempt for the conversion was stopped, but the Potters had pulled within striking distance at 22-18.

—:—

WITH THE momentum mounting, the Potters received another break shortly when Carl Natalina covered a Dwight Sims fumble on the Big Red 35.

On second down, Herring raced 23 yards as he cut around defenders to the Big Red 12.

In three downs, the Potters picked up only three yards and the fourth down pass was intercepted by Smith, who ran it out to the Big Red 27.

The Potters got possession with 7:32 left in the game and made their final bid for the upset that would have been heard around Ohio.

After Big Red was stopped on the Potter 27, Marchbanks cracked to the 34, but Herring was held to one yard to the 35.

The Potters went for a pass on a third - and - two situation that failed and then Coach Bob McNea elected to gamble on fourth - and - two. But Big Red stopped Marchbanks almost in his tracks and Steubenville took over deep in Potter territory at the 36 with about six minutes remaining in the game.

A PENALTY which covered eight yards plus two blasts for nine yards by Palmer moved the ball to the two, from where Smith plunged over the left side for his third touchdown of the night. The conversion run failed.

The final TD with 2:05 left in the game put Big Red out of reach at 28-18.

The Potters came back in the last two minutes as Winters and Woods connected on their longest of the night for 50 yards, but Woods was pulled down on the Steubenville 20.

Four pass plays failed to net anything and when Big Red got the ball it ran out the clock.

Johnson Doubtful For Cards' Game

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Loyie Nawlin Humphrey has done in seven National Football League seasons what it normally takes a regular quarterback about one afternoon to do.

But now it finally is Loyie Nawlin Humphrey's turn to see what he can do in one afternoon as a regular.

For Humphrey, better known as Buddy, most likely will start in place of the injured Charley Johnson when the St. Louis Cardinals battle the winless Washington Redskins Sunday.

Johnson, the league's most prolific touchdown tosser this season, has a bruised left shoulder and is a doubtful starter.

The game is a big one for the Cardinals, who need a victory to retain at least a share of the lead in the Eastern Conference. They are tied with the Cleveland Browns, who play the New York Giants. The leaders each have a 4-1 record.

Humphrey, who played for Los Angeles and Dallas before going to St. Louis in 1963, has thrown 45 passes in his career and completed 18 for 216 yards and one touchdown.

In other NFL games, Western Conference leader Green Bay plays Dallas, Detroit is at Chicago, Los Angeles battles Baltimore, Minnesota plays San Francisco and Pittsburgh goes against Philadelphia.

The American League schedule has San Diego at New York tonight and Denver at Buffalo, Kansas City at Houston and Boston at Oakland Sunday.

In playing Cleveland, the Giants have a great opportunity to take a giant step forward. They trail the leaders by one game but have yet to play one of the league's stronger teams.

Green Bay, the only unbeaten NFL team, goes after its sixth triumph against a Dallas team that continues to experiment with its quarterbacks.

Detroit's main task will be to stop Chicago's Gale Sayers, the rookie halfback who exploded with four touchdowns last week

Baltimore should remain on the Packers' heels against Los Angeles, which has won just one game in five starts. Minnesota and San Francisco will be fighting to maintain some hope in the Western race.

The hapless Steelers will be seeking their first victory of the season against the Eagles, who fell short of pulling off a come-from-behind victory over New York last week.

Browns Seen In Good Shape For New York

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns are in their best physical condition in several weeks for the game with the New York Giants in New York Sunday.

The Browns, defending National Football League champions, are favored by eight points to win their third straight game from the Giants.

The Giants, who appeared headed for another last place finish after floundering through the exhibition season this year, surprisingly have a 3-2 record and are only a game behind the Browns and St. Louis Cardinals, who are tied for first place in the East with 4-1 records.

Two former teammates will be going against the Browns.

Mike Bundra, who was with Cleveland most of last season, has won a starting post at defensive tackle with the Giants. Bobby Crespino who went to New York in the trade that brought Dick Modzelewski to the Browns last year, has played most of the time at tight end behind Aaron Thomas.

Defensive lineman Jim Kanicki, who saw limited action against the Dallas Cowboys here last Sunday, may be ready for full-scale duty. Galen Fiss, who has been out since the season opener except for brief stints on the kicking teams, should see some action at linebacker.

Sullivan, McIntyre To Air Reds' Games

CINCINNATI (AP) — Claude Sullivan and Jim McIntyre will be the Cincinnati Reds' radio voices next season.

The appointment of the two sportscasters was made Friday by the George Weidemann Brewing Co., which took over as sponsor of the baseball broadcasts after the 1965 season.

Sullivan broadcast the Reds' games for two years with Waite Hoyt, former New York Yankee pitching star, who became the Reds' broadcaster in 1941. Hoyt retired at the end of this season and after Wiedemann succeeded the Burger Brewing Co. as sponsor.

Casper Won't Let Up, Holds 3-Stroke Lead

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — That guy out there just won't let up," was the observation that best summarized the $100,000 Sahara Invitational golf tournament today.

"That guy" was Bill Casper Jr., who began today's final round exactly where he finished the first three—in front.

Behind Casper were rounds of 66-66-68 and a 54-hole score of 200, 13 under par, three strokes ahead of his nearest challenger, Randy Glover from Florence S.C.

Glover, not too well known, is a handsome young bachelor, a backfield star in high school football at Cheraw, S.C., (pop. 8,000), who is having his best year in four on the PGA tour with earnings of $36,626.

3 Grid Players, Official Injured During Contests

A grid official and three players were treated at City Hospital for injuries received in district football games Friday night.

The official was Don Hancock, 1828 Michigan Ave., who was treated for abrasions of the forehead and a small laceration of the eyelid after being kicked in the forehead while working the Wellsville - Salem game at Wellsville.

In the same game, Anthony D'Angelo Jr., 815 Wood St. a player for Wellsville was admitted to City Hospital and reported in "fair" condition today after suffering injuries to the right knee.

The Oak Glen gridders treated were Marvin Six son of Lester Six of New Cumberland R.D. 2 who suffered lacerations of the lower lip in the Oak Glen-Beaver Local game and James Hobbs, son of Clair Hobbs of New Cumberland R. D. 1 was treated for an injured left shoulder.

Dixie Walker Named As Scout For Braves

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Atlanta Braves have named Fred (Dixie) Walker, their batting instructor at Milwaukee for two seasons, as the club's Southeastern scouting representative.

Walker led the National League in hitting with a .357 average in 1944. During an 18-year playing career, he had a .306 batting average.

Junior Editors Quiz on CLIMATE

QUESTION: Is Earth's climate getting warmer?

ANSWER: We do not have exact records of small changes of climate in the past, except for the last 100 years. There is a record left in Earth's rocks, however, which tells the geologist what climates were like in the past, in a general way. The diagram at the top gives a rough idea of what went on in the last million years (it is not in scale). From this you will see that there were four times when great ice sheets formed in northern countries. These sheets, sometimes two miles thick, came inching down southward, grinding rock and changing the habitats of the animals. In between such icy periods, the weather became warmer, forests grew where the ice had been; the animals moved north again. The last icy period ended about 25,000 years ago. Since then, the ice has melted, leaving such fragments as the ice cap on Greenland. So we can definitely say that our climate has been warming up for about 25,000 years. But does this mean it will continue to warm up? If we are in another interval between ice sheet periods, it will warm up first and then grow cold again. But no one can tell for sure. Meanwhile, there is little to worry about. Climates change very slowly; we will have our present climate for a long, long time.

FOR YOU TO DO: Look up a book or article on prehistoric animals and see if you can identify the five kinds shown in our picture, all of which once roamed in various parts of America.

Police Chief Issues Tips On 'Winterizing' Of Cars

Police Chief Americo J. Radeschi today issued a series of tips to East Liverpool District motorists on preparing autos for safe driving in the winter months ahead.

Radeschi also advised motorists to act promptly in winterizing cars, pointing out that chilly temperatures and the first light snowfalls probably will hit the area early in November.

"Many think that a little antifreeze and a change to lighter weight oil is all the winterizing a car needs, but they usually find out their mistake later," the chief said.

Every auto needs a good battery and a tuned-up engine for quick, sure starts in wet, cold weather, he said. The exhaust system must be tight to avoid danger of carbon monoxide fumes and the headlights, taillights, brake lights and turn signals must be operating properly, he added.

Drivers should take particular care to make certain the windshield wiper blades are efficient and that the defroster is capable of removing frost and mist from the glass, the chief said. Good wiper blades are needed particularly when driving in heavy snow or freezing rain, he pointed out.

Every auto should be equipped with four good tires for proper operation on slick pavements, Radeschi said. Winter tread tires or chains are best for negotiating deep snow or ice, he added. Snow tires studded with tiny bits of metal also are available to Ohio drivers.

The chief said tests have shown that a car equipped with conventional tires and traveling 20 miles an hour required 180 feet to stop on ice. Under the same conditions, an auto with tire chains halted in 70 feet; a car with studded tires stopped in 110 feet and an auto with snow tires stopped in 167 feet, he said.

Even when an auto is equipped with recommended traction aids, drivers must remember to use increased caution for safe winter driving, the chief said.

Why

SHOULD HILLS CLOSE SUNDAY?

An Open Letter to The Citizens of Columbiana County:

Of all the stores that are open on Sunday in Columbiana County, the Downtown Merchants of East Liverpool are only interested in forcing Hills to close. The other "Open Sunday" businesses sell clothing, hardware, automotive supplies and most everything else normally found in a department store. Yet the Downtown Merchants have singled out Hills only to be the victim of a Sunday Closing Status. Mr. Dayton Allen of the Downtown Merchants has even gone so far as to have the Hills manager placed under arrest. Why doesn't he have the managers of other "Open Sunday" businesses arrested as well? It's very obviously discrimination againt Hills!

Convenience is the policy of Hills and Sunday hours is a convenience that Hills wants to make available to hundreds of local families that have no other time when they can shop together. Hills customers have requested Sunday hours — it's something they need and want.
Unless a uniform policy of Sunday Closings is adopted for all stores in the East Liverpool marketing area, it is evident that Downtown stores are using the Merchants Association as a vehicle to oppose Hills for their selfish interests. We don't think this is cricket!

In order to cooperate with the enforcement agencies that have been motivated by certain downtown merchants, Hills will not open Sunday, October 24th. But in all fairness, Hills asks that all other places of business in this county also close their doors on Sunday. Why should Hills and Hills only be the victim of the Downtown Merchants?

Why

SHOULD HILLS CLOSE SUNDAY?

The Citizens of Columbiana County:

Of all the stores that are open on Sunday in Columbiana County, the Downtown Merchants of East Liverpool are only interested in forcing Hills to close. The other "Open Sunday" businesses sell clothing, hardware, automotive supplies and most everything else normally found in a department store. Yet the Downtown Merchants have singled out Hills only to be the victim of a Sunday Closing Status. Mr. Dayton Allen of the Downtown Merchants has even gone so far as to have the Hills manager placed under arrest. Why doesn't he have the managers of other "Open Sunday" businesses arrested as well? It's very obviously discrimination againt Hills!

Convenience is the policy of Hills and Sunday hours is a convenience that Hills wants to make available to hundreds of local families that have no other time when they can shop together. Hills customers have requested Sunday hours — it's something they need and want.
Unless a uniform policy of Sunday Closings is adopted for all stores in the East Liverpool marketing area, it is evident that Downtown stores are using the Merchants Association as a vehicle to oppose Hills for their selfish interests. We don't think this is cricket!

In order to cooperate with the enforcement agencies that have been motivated by certain downtown merchants, Hills will not open Sunday, October 24th. But in all fairness, Hills asks that all other places of business in this county also close their doors on Sunday. Why should Hills and Hills only be the victim of the Downtown Merchants?
